Killer Instinct 2 has just hit the arcades and we’re already getting rave reviews from readers. What do you think of this hot new game? Drop us a line!

Ty Tang
via the Internet

Hi, we salute you!

I think Killer Instinct 2 rules and is far more advanced than the first one. I’ve played the arcade so many times that I think I have already lost track of my lavish spending of quarters. Anyway, the graphics are way better and I love the new way of doing combos. It’s more challenging and really fun. By the way, I love your magazine. Keep it up!

Karim Rahim
via the Internet

The Wulf man thanks you, Karim! Right now, there are no plans to directly translate Killer Instinct 2 for the Nintendo 64. But there will be a KI game incorporating characters and moves from Killer Instinct 2, and more!

No Kid Stuff

I just received Volume 81, and I must say that I was very offended by Charles Summers’ letter. For one thing, while he said Nintendo Power used to be good, but it has gotten way worse, I say, but it has gotten BETTER! And another thing: You do NOT have eight-year-olds eating out of your hands. I happen to be twelve, almost thirteen, and I love your magazine!

Jesse J. Jury
Arlington, Washington

Two! Three! Four! Huh! Huh!

I want to say that Charles Summers is TOTALLY wrong about Nintendo Power. Your magazine is NOT written for preschoolers, because if it was, you would receive hundreds of letters from angered parents about the reviews of Doom, the Mortal Kombat series, and other bloody games that you feature. I think that Nintendo Power has gotten better, not worse, especially with the expanded Player’s Pulse section. I also appreciate Sarah LaBrie’s letter in Volume 77 about girls not being wimpish. I know some girls at my school that are very tough, especially the one I’m trying to persuade to go to a Valentine’s Day dance with me. Most of the girls play football in the mud with the boys!

Bryan Lucier
Woodside, Ontario

Mostly I’m Right

Greetings, earth people! ’Tis I again, Sarah LaBrie, the one who wrote about girls in games. I somehow in my haste exchanged the word “mostly” for “always” when writing about the number of times girls are portrayed as helpless pink-clad princesses. I mean that it happens a lot, but not all the time. So Greg Loulis (Player’s Pulse, Volume 81) was right about my never having played the Super NES Final Fantasy games. Just because one word I wrote was wrong doesn’t mean that I’m dead wrong about everything. That really doesn’t make sense. So while I take back that one word, everything else still stands.

Sarah LaBrie
Egan, Minnesota

All Right, All Right!

Quit printing these stupid letters about the portrayal of women in video games. I would like to put this issue to rest right now by saying three things:

1. There are a heck of a lot more male video game players out there than female ones. Therefore, companies try to make games more appealing to guys by making the hero male and all the girls very attractive.

2. I don’t know where this idea that the captured princess is any sort of a... wimp came from. So what if she got captured by a giant turtle? That could happen to anyone.

3 Finally, there's always a complaint that all the girls in games have perfect bodies and don't wear much. Have you ever noticed what the guys look like?

Colin Wahler
Rutherford, New Jersey

Heroic Suggestion
A game I would definitely buy would be based on a great epic. Namely, the Adventures of Ulysses. It could feature a variety of gaming genres. The Battle of Troy and Ulysses's battle with the suitors would provide the action element. You could incorporate his escapes from the Lotus Eaters and the Cyclopes as puzzles. His wild ride through the Mediterranean Sea could be remade as a simulation game. And finally, the overall game would be an RPG, which is one of my personal favorites. Remember, you got it from me.

Tony Lin
via the net

Super Classic
I recently rediscovered a great old game called Super Metroid. It has the best of several genres. It has action, adventure, and RPG elements. I wanted to recommend it for your series on re-released games.

Terence Martin

In-Depth Stuff
I have subscribed to your magazine for nearly six years, but this is the first time I've ever written to you. I'm concerned about the future of your magazine. First of all, a lot of gamers today write to you saying they only want pictures and codes. Personally, I like to know a little more about a game, like the development techniques used to make it and the story line, which is why I subscribe to Nintendo Power. Second, I completely disagree with the letter in Volume 81 from Dave DiRienzo about the improvements you should make:

1. We don't want rumors
2. We want comics
3. Player's Pulse is just fine. Call me strange but I actually enjoyed that picture of the dog reading.

I hope you consider these issues, because a lot of people agree with me.

David Talley

The Graphic Truth
First I must tell you I love my Super NES! I do not care for sports games or violent/fighting games like Mortal Kombat. However, I'm a female in my 40s, so go figure. I don't feel video games are harmful to children if age appropriate and if kids have a "balanced menu" that includes non-video activities. I find it difficult to read through some of the graphics. I love your magazine, but it looks cluttered at times. You do have super clever ads to tempt people to subscribe, though. Even ones I've received in the mail I've saved a while to show to people. RPGs are my main interest. I love the new Epic Center section which I feel was meant for me. I just wish when you print photos of the game screens they were larger. I'm an adult and should know better, but even I buy...
Talk about a blast from the past! Defender/Joust, an Arcade Classic, gallops onto the Game Boy Top 10 for the first time. Meanwhile, on-line game-players catapult Catapult's X-Band modem up the Most Wanted chart. Use it to get on-line and play hit games like Super Mario Kart with other X-Banders a thousand miles away!

In the Zone
I think that the new Arena is AWESOME!! The Battle Zone is really cool. It shows how many Nintendo Power members entered the challenge. The scores are now on Nintendo Power Source on America Online! I congratulate you on your success. Keep it up.

Oh Where, Oh Where, Have My Power Charts Gone?
Overall, I like the changes in Nintendo Power. The expanded Player's Pulse and the new Arena really got my attention. But there are a few minor flaws. First, cutting the Power Charts from two pages to one! That was one of my favorite sections! Second, I had a really hard time locating the Classified Information section because you changed the manila border that has been its trademark for the previous 79 volumes! Very big no-no.

Finding Finding
I have been an avid Nintendo Power subscriber for many years, and never have I seen such a perfectly constructed magazine like the January Bonus Issue! I think the new binding is a significant improvement over the old square one, and I hope you decide to keep it throughout the years. Now whenever I open the magazine, it stays open. Although I find your magazine and your Web site very informative, I find them to be too centered around a younger audience. I think you should expand them from the pre-teen age to young adults and over. A larger vocabulary would definitely be the answer here. More in-depth talks about hardware and software would suit me fine.

Player's Poll Winner
Climbs into the Treehouse

Excuse Daniel Staskevicious if he's copped a "Been there, done that" attitude of late. The Volume 76 Grand Prize Winner jetted into Seattle and caught a nail-biting Sonics/Spurs classic that very night before dining in style atop the world-famous Space Needle. But the high points of his trip took place inside the four walls of NOA. Daniel picked up a stack of Virtual Boy games and played pre-release copies of Bound High and Dragon Hopper. Even better was a trip to the legendary Treehouse, where master game-player Henry Sterchi gave Daniel an exclusive preview of the Nintendo 64. Daniel then got a wish fulfilled when he squared off against Henry in K1 2 Daniel kept his cool and even got to pull a few finishing moves on the master. Now that's awesome!
Get ready for the triple crown of sports games. Nintendo and the developers at Rare introduce Ken Griffey Jr.’s Winning Run, the hottest baseball video game ever made for a 16-bit system. It’s more than a battery-backed, 32-meg cart packed with revolutionary programming techniques and innovations—it’s a natural winner that refuses to lose.

© 1994 NINTENDO/RARE
The Major League insignias depicted here are trademarks which are exclusively the property of the respective Major League clubs and may not be reproduced without their prior consent. Major League Baseball is a registered trademark of Major League Baseball Properties Inc.
Most sports game sequels are like leftovers—step away the spicy new stats served on a bed of minor programming tweaks, and it's the same warmed-over version of a game you had before. Ken Griffey Jr.'s Winning Run isn't a typical sequel. It's a whole new ball game. The developers at Rare (creators of Kl and DKC) have served up a delightful smorgasbord of programming innovations and revolutionary techniques that set a new standard of excellence in baseball video games.

Winning Run features over 700 individual players and 15 authentic ball parks, all three-dimensionally rendered using Advanced Computer Modeling (ACM). Each player was modeled using Alias Power Animator software on a high-powered Silicon Graphics work station and animated with Rare's proprietary motion capture technology. The action is smooth and realistic, with over 4,500 frames of animation in the game. You'll see the result when you watch the batter saunter to the plate, dig in his cleats and nod at the pitcher. The camera angle smoothly pans from first base to third as the pitcher checks the runners. When the batter makes contact with the pitch, the camera angle instantly switches to an overhead perspective and follows the ball. You'll see more action than you would at an actual ball game.

Every ball park is modeled on cutting-edge Alias software and reproduced down to the finest details. Check out Fenway's towering Green Monster, Wrigley's ivy, and Arlington's charm. And Rare's custom sound drivers reproduce the All-American ambiance of a real ball game. You'll hear individual shouts from the crowd and even the occasional cry of "popcorn!" or "peanuts!" from a roaming vendor.

There are four modes of play, including MLB Challenge (an exhibition mode), World Series, All Star Game (which includes a Home Run Derby) and season-long, MLB League mode. Up to eight players can pick teams and play a 26-, 52- or 162-game season in MLB League mode. As you play through a season, you'll build your team by trading for new talent. A player value system keeps trades honest and fair. A new memory compression technique allows you to save your status, trades and stats for all modes of play. Even your lineup changes are recorded.

If you finish a All-American mode with a winning record, you receive several cool codes to use in your next game. The number of codes you receive is based on the number of victories. There are codes for several hidden teams, including the Tampa Bay Devil Rays, Arizona Diamondbacks and the Nintendo and Rareware teams.

Winning Run is licensed by Major League Baseball and includes all the authentic team logos and names, but you won't find the names of the players in the Major Leagues (and unlike the first Griffey game, there isn't an option to customize names). The important thing to remember is that the name of the game is fun, and Winning Run has plenty of it.

Welcome to the show! Step up to the plate and see the big picture from the perspective of a Major League batter. Nintendo's Ken Griffey Jr.'s Winning Run is packed with innovations that raise the standard of excellence in sports games.
PITCHING

Every pitcher in Ken Griffey Jr.'s Winning Run has four types of pitches: a fastball, a change-up, a curveball, and a specialty pitch. While the specialty pitch is typically the favorite, no pitch is effective if the batter knows what is coming. Keep in mind that the speed and type of pitch affect the pitcher's stamina and performance. A series of fastball pitches will drain a pitcher's energy faster than several change-ups or curveballs. Read on and learn about the strategies for lowering your earned run average and keeping batters at bay.

STRIKE 'EM OUT

Prior to play, it's important to review all the attributes of the pitchers you plan to use on the mound. Each pitcher is rated according to five different skills: Stamina, Control, Velocity, Fielding, and Throwing. The Stamina meter tells you how long your pitcher can last before he gets tired. If your pitcher is throwing nothing but strikes, a full Stamina bar might get him through nine innings. If your best closer has limited stamina, save him for the final two innings of a game. The Control meter shows how accurately your pitcher throws the ball. A long control bar ensures that you get the pitch you want when you want it, which is critical when the bases are loaded. Velocity shows how fast your pitcher can throw the ball across the plate. Most pitchers with a long Velocity bar have a Super fastball specialty pitch. The Fielding meter reflects the pitcher's ability to stop line drives, and the Throwing gauge measures the pitcher's accuracy at picking off base stealers.

If you're up against a human opponent, mix up your pitch selection. Throw one or two fastballs inside to make your opponent jumpy, then deliver a slow change-up. The specialty pitch is the best weapon in the pitcher's arsenal. If it's a Super fastball pitch, the throw will be faster than a normal fastball; if it's a Super Curve pitch, the ball will break more sharply than a typical curveball. While specialty pitches often frustrate batters, you can't rely on one particular pitch to carry you through the innings; variety is the key to winning pitching duels.

SCREWBALL
A Screwball is a pitch that adds spin to the baseball, making it break in the opposite direction of a fastball.

SUPER FASTBALL
A Super fastball pitch crosses the plate at a velocity exceeding one hundred miles an hour.

SUPER CURVE
Pitchers with a Super Curve can bend their pitch further than an ordinary curveball.

SLIDER
A Slider looks like a fastball, but the pitch breaks as it approaches the plate, sliding off in the same direction as a curveball.

KNUCKLEBALL
A Knuckleball is a pitch thrown with little speed or spin. To the batter, the ball appears to wobble slightly as it flies over the plate.

SUPER CHANGE-UP
A Super Change-Up is a slow pitch thrown with the same motion as a fastball. The deceptive pitch tricks batters into swinging early.
Founded in 1901, the American League (AL) originated as a rival to the older and more powerful National League. In 1973, the American League introduced a fundamental change to modern baseball: the controversial designated hitter (DH) rule. If you dislike the DH decision, repeal the ruling by turning it “off” on the Option menu.

The Baltimore Orioles finished third in the AL East in 1995. The Orioles are a disciplined team with skilled players that can win their division. If the Orioles play well, they will be a contender this season.

No matter how well you pitch, you won’t win unless you can score. Know your offensive options before you leave the on deck circle.

BATTER UP!

Winning Run gives batters more offensive strategies than typical baseball games do. Aim for a location in the park (like the gap in right field) by adjusting your stance and holding Left or Right on the Control Pad as you hit the ball. Pressing Up or Down on the Control Pad lets you connect for a grounder or a fly ball. The developers at Rare designed the batting program on real physics models, which means the baseball can land almost anywhere, both inside and outside the park.

BUNTING

Bunting is a risky but effective method for advancing your runners into scoring position. As the pitcher prepares to wind up, move your batter close to the plate and hold down the Y Button. Your batter will square up over the plate in a bunting stance. Increase your odds for success by holding Left or Right on the Control Pad as you press the Y Button. This bunts the ball along the baseline, forcing the pitcher or catcher to spend valuable time chasing the rolling ball.

BASERUNNING

Successful baserunning demands timing and a thorough understanding of the outfield radar screen. The red dots on the perimeter of the radar display represent the locations of base runners on the baseline. Take your lead by tapping the X Button once and pressing the Control Pad in the direction of the base you’re going to steal. Try to imagine the Control Pad as a baseball diamond: Right is first base, Up is second base, Left is third base and Down is home. After you take your lead, tap the X Button again to make the runner steal the base. If the ball is hit fair, runners who are leading off automatically advance to the next base. Most experienced players figure out that the computer pitcher is into his wind up when he shifts his feet on the mound. As soon as the pitcher moves, tap the X Button and desired base on the Control Pad to alert your runners. If your batter hits a short pop fly, remember to reverse your runners before you end up in a double or triple play.

As it is in real baseball, fielding is the most challenging part of Ken Griffey Jr's Winning Run. The key to victory is knowing how to read the outfield radar screen. Understanding the outfield radar makes the difference between trying to play and playing to win.

BASELINE

The ball field baseline is displayed on the outer perimeter of the outfield radar screen. A red dot along the baseline represents a base runner's position. The lowest corner on the radar is home plate. First base is in the right-hand corner, second base is at the top of the radar screen, and third base is the left corner. Rookies are often confused when they see runners beyond center field on the radar screens. It's easier on your ego if you learn to play the game with the Fielding Assist and Auto-Fielding options on. Remember that the baseline and field displays are two separate sources of information. If your opponent has a runner on base, watch the red dots prior to delivering the pitch. If you do so, you'll always have an idea of how close a base runner is to stealing a base.

INFIELD

You can follow most infield action without the radar screen. Use the B Button to make a selected fielder dive or jump for the ball. After the ball is caught, press the B button again with the Control Pad pointed at the appropriate base. If you need to unload the ball in a hurry, press the X Button for an extra fast throw.

OUTFIELD

Winning Run incorporates a revolutionary fielding system called the Virtual Play System (VPS) that realistically simulates the way a major league team would set up its defense on the field. If you select Automatic Fielding, the VPS takes over your defensive decisions. The outfield radar screen provides players with an overhead perspective of the entire field. The player nearest to the ball is represented by a blue dot. A flashing white dot indicates where the ball is going to land, and a steady white dot shows the present location of the baseball. To catch a pop fly, move the fielder closest to the ball (the blue dot), into the drop zone (the flashing white dot) before the ball hits the ground.

BOSTON RED SOX

AL East Champions, the Boston Red Sox were swept by the Cleveland Indians in the play-offs. The team remains well-balanced with capable pitching and hitting and is favored to win its division again this year.

The National League

-formed in 1876, the National League (NL) is one of the oldest professional sports organizations in existence. Unlike the American League, the National League does not use the designated hitter rule, so every NL pitcher has his turn in the batter's box. The National League leads the American League in All Star game victories, 39-26-1.

Their mission is to create a game that thinks like a person, looks like a dream, and feels like you're in the middle of a heart-pounding nightmare. Ocean's development team may have its hands full in bringing to life Tom Cruise's Mission: Impossible, but they have a high-tech dream machine to help them, the Nintendo 64.
computers and Alias software to get them started. They also had experience working with 3-D modeling from the Lobo project. For more on Lobo, see the review in this month's issue. Early meetings with Paramount helped Ocean decide which settings to use in their game, but the settings were really just points of departure. "We were given some basic information and photos from the movie," said Adrian Ludley, while showing us storyboard sketches like those included here. "We made some thumbnails to get us started, but each area has evolved on its own. All of it is changing and improving every day."

What began to emerge from the design team was a game featuring complex relationships between characters and the player who takes the role of Mission: Impossible's Ethan Hunt. The game, as they conceived it, sends you off on various missions loosely based on the movie.

In some of the missions, your goal is to gain access to a secure position, then escape. For instance, in order to stop a nuclear arms deal between the Russians and the Arabs, you must break into a heavily defended compound with guard towers and search lights, not to mention armed guards who have orders to shoot anyone who looks like a CIA spy. After finessing your way into the armory, you'll have to bust out again. How you prepare your escape route on the way in will determine if you escape or not. Capture is not recommended since enemy agents think nothing of throwing you off a ledge, filling your boots with cement or tying you to the railroad tracks in front of a speeding train. When Adrian showed us one of these ending animations, he was surprised to find that someone had texture mapped an image of his face onto the train track victim. "That wasn't there before," he joked. "Somebody must want my job." (Just about everyone, we would think.)
THE INTELLIGENCE GAME

In Mission:Impossible, everything you do will influence how other characters react to you. "All this is possible in part due to the N64's ability to handle graphics separately from other game calculations. That frees up CPU time for AI, among other tasks, leading to improved game complexity. Each character in Mission:Impossible will have its own AI directing its behavior, but that is not the only place where artificial intelligence is being put to good use. "We are using a smart cameraman," Mark Rogers explained. "For instance, if you're walking over a grate, the camera angle may switch to a view that looks up at you from below the bars." Mark also explained how the cameraman's AI would help the player in the game by focusing on targets or swinging their view around a corner if they want to take a peek before stepping out into a possible hailstorm of lead. When the view is focused on gadgets, the camera may zoom in so that you can operate devices such as numeric key pads or telephones.

Intelligence of an electronic nature is also being worked on for the spoken or written message choices that will be used in the game. Depending upon your responses to a character, you can change how they will react to you in the future. This allows you to fool or bribe characters, or to make them angry. Mark may be ambitious, but he also promises himself to be one of the most creative game designers in the business. Several years ago, he led the team that developed Jurassic Park for the Super NES, which included 3-D, Doom-like sequences in an adventure context while much of the rest of the gaming world was still making side-scrolling platform games.

At the time we visited, Mission:Impossible existed mainly in pieces, which is typical of the middle stages of the game development process. We saw environments, character animations, wireframes, rendered objects, fly-throughs, short movies, and even a polished presentation video. But we didn't get to play the game on the N64, which brings up the question of how Ocean can design the AI without the rest of the game pieces being in place. Where there's a will, there's a way. The Ocean team constructed 2-D environments, modeled after the 3-D areas, in which they could test various aspects of the game. Even before they put the 2-D tester together, team members experimented with their AI concepts by acting out scenarios from the game. Since they knew what AI commands would be given in different situations, they could walk through entire scenarios to see how they played out and how long they took.

COVERT ACTION

Other missions in MI include a covert trip to a foreign embassy, interrogation at the hands of some treacherous CIA agents, escape from the CIA building and a second mission that sends you back into a different part of CIA headquarters, a rendezvous at Waterloo Station and the final arcade-type shoot-em-up on a speeding train. The action in each mission is limited to a particular 3-D environment in which everything you need to complete the job is on hand. "We didn't build hundreds of rooms with one clue in each room," Mark told us. "Instead, every room we use is vital. Every room is loaded with characters, items and possibilities. If you grab a rocket launcher from the CIA arsenal and start blowing things up, you probably won't last long. But in this game you have the freedom to do it if you want." The main plot deals with the retrieval of a list of CIA agent names. If it falls into the wrong hands, all the operatives around the world will become targets. That's all you know. As the action begins, the viewpoint is from behind and above the main character, but dramatic camera shots will automatically switch your viewpoint so that you focus on important things when necessary.

Mark Rogers dreams of using karaoke in his games. Not.

David Dixon could probably program a pig to fly he wanted.

Somebody is trying to run over Adnan Ludley with a virtual train.
THE FINE ART OF N64 GAMING

Adrian Ludley's artists work all around their problems, quite literally "all around" since they have to cover every surface of their 3-D world with texture maps. A texture map is any piece of art that is applied to a polygon surface. The quality of the texture mapping is one of the keys to making a gorgeous N64 game. "We are working with these little 32 x 32 pixel texture maps, which seem very small," said Adrian. "When you see them on the Nintendo 64, though, they look terrific, even if you blow them up to fill the screen." Human figures consist of about 250 polygons, similar to the polygon count in the Shadows of the Empire game (see story NP vol. 83). At this size, they will be able to include many characters in any scene without straining the graphics processor. As for the animation of characters, Ocean is still creating the wireframe models and will shoot most of the motion-capture footage in the future. Some initial motion-capture tests have proven to be very smooth at 30 frames per second. The game ending animations are good enough to make you gasp. The funniest animation we saw was a uniformed MI character that had been animated with outrageous moves from the Lobo fighting game.

The developers used sketches such as these, and the one on the first page, to give the artists direction for making 3-D models using Alias software. The finished game will use close-ups, moving cameras to look around corners and dramatic camera angles.

BY THE NUMBERS

Possibly the most difficult job at Ocean belongs to David Dixon, a soft-spoken programmer from the U.K. who has worked on PC simulation titles such as TFX and Inferno: The Odyssey Continues. David has accomplished some impressive feats already on MI including the creation of an N64 software emulator that runs on the Indigo, allowing the other team members to test their work without requiring a separate development kit for each of them. David also created a program to convert the Alias artwork data into a form the N64 can use. "The conversion software available didn't give us fine control of our polygons," he explained. "What we mean by that was the need for the software to use the hierarchical structure of the graphics in an intelligent way. "A complex object can be split up into simpler objects using Alias' flexible hierarchical system," Mark Rogers explained. "If you're using instructions to draw a 3-D desk, and your perspective is from above the desk, then you don't need to draw the underside of the desk first. You draw what is visible from your current perspective," David wrote a program that tells the N64 in what order to draw all the polygons so that it creates the scene that you see efficiently. Another one of the problems David overcame was the absence of a point light source feature in the N64 graphics co-processor. "Some of the light sourcing features are more limited on the N64 than our Alias program," David shrugged. "So I filled in the unused CPU cycles to allow for point light sourcing. Now, we get the same effects on the N64 and it doesn't slow down the co-processor."

THIS TAPE WILL SELF-DESTRUCT IN FIVE SECONDS

Before running off to catch our plane, we asked the three Ocean amigos for a final thought about the new 64-bit system at the heart of their project.

David Dixon: "I like the way it displays thin It's aesthetically pleasing and it has freaky, weird effects."

Mark Rogers: "The most exciting time for the N64 is in the future when the micro code will be available to programmers. When we can customize all that power it will be incredible."

Adrian Ludley: "It's a kind of magic."

The secondary characters in MI aren't there to give you info. They each have their own agendas, reacting to Ethan Hunt just as they react to other computer characters. Physically, the characters have very different physiques to emphasize their differences in personality. "In many games, all the body types look exactly the same," Adrian Ludley pointed out, "but not here. We have the full range."
Meet Mohawk, a freewheeling, CD-collecting funkster with a unique sense of personal style. He has green hair, bad shades, and no respect at all for the law of gravity.

To gather CDs, Mohawk has to bash through strange lands—and any enemies that stand in his way. Remember, mess with this head banger and you’re in for a big-time head ache.

With Mohawk and Headphone Jack, T-HQ has created new characters, new worlds, and an entirely new kind of challenge. Mohawk is faster than a hurried hedgehog, he squeezes through more pipes than a plunging plumber, he changes into more shapes than an egg-spitting dinosaur. Not only that, but he sports shades and collects rock CDs. He’s bad! The good news is that Mohawk is in great shape and he’s ready to go wherever his search for CDs takes him. The bad news is that he’s up against scores of mechanized monsters. It’s a good thing he’s got the ultimate “spike” hairdo. When he’s in trouble, Mohawk rolls into a ball and slices through enemies. Pretty sharp! When things get really tough, Mohawk’s secret weapon is losing his head. Tap the X button to see the ultimate head banger explosion.
When it comes to speed, Big-Heave Mohawk really lays down tracks. In this form, Jack jumps hills, screams through mazes, and never leaves skid marks.

Sure, some ledges are hard to reach, but you can't keep a good morphing dude down. When Mohawk straps on springs, he can bounce to places he's been before.

No, Mohawk doesn't need to go on a diet! He's just morphed into Blimpy. Mohawk's slower in this form, but he can float over obstacles as he searches for hidden rooms.

Sometimes you need to fly, even when there's no gravity. Flying Mohawk moves quickly and doesn't come down until he gets what he's looking for.

Frogman Mohawk breathes water, swims like a fish, and proves that you can keep a good man down! He can stay under water without risk of drowning.
Mohawk begins his quest in a giant vault that might seem small to other heroes, but when you can jump down and drop up, there's lots to explore. The Space level is your chance to get used to zero-gravity. In this area, the spins aren't as fast and the bad guys aren't as bad as they will be in others.

Throughout the game, you'll run across inter-dimensional portals that lead to bonus areas. When you jump into these mysterious whirlpools, Mohawk will end up deep in space, still gathering CDs. Don't worry about air. With all of the prizes around, Mohawk will be too busy to breathe. Once he's through rummaging, Mohawk will return the same way he came. He simply jumps back through his portal and rejoins the action. Thanks to his trusty portals, Mohawk will never be stuck among the stars.

Looking for bonuses? The game has many secret doors but no hidden rooms. Mohawk's map shows everything. Just search the map for rooms that are detached from the rest of the level. To get to the bonus room in Level One, you have to fall right up into it. When you get to the area marked on the map, and down becomes up, jump down the ledge ladder on the right side of the screen until you reach the ledge by the blue arrows. You'll find a hidden doorway leading to a secret room.
To get bonuses, push Mohawk against the walls when you get to the areas marked on the map. He’ll sink through trap doors. In order to find these rooms, it’s important to check Mohawk’s automated map. Don’t trust your sense of direction to know which way is up when reading the map, instead, look at the landmarks and make sure your map and your television are pointing in the same direction.

Two pillars of fire keep Mohawk from going farther on this level. If you don’t want to be toasted, press down on your Control Pad as you climb toward the fires. Mohawk will walk into the ground and enter a hidden tunnel that leads to a switch room. Hit the switch to put out the fires so Mohawk can continue his mission without getting burned.

Watch for a pattern. To defeat the big Robot, wait at the far edge of the screen. He fires sets of missiles, fireballs, or other projectiles. If you simply jump the first shot, the others will automatically miss. Once the robot stops firing, roll Mohawk into a spike ball and hit the bucket of bolts in the head.
Jungle warfare is never very fun, especially when entire walls have been lined with wooden spikes. If you don't watch where you drop in this level, the spikes may point out your mistakes and snatch your life.

Plumber's Nightmare

You can stop and check the map, even when you're whooshing down the drain. If you find yourself in the area marked on this map, go back into the pipe and hold Up on the Control Pad. You'll like your destination.

You'd Better Fly Right!

To complete the level, you have to morph into the flying Mohawk and keep him from falling to the bottom of the spiked cavern. Once Mohawk gets wings in this area, he should fly into the pipe to his right. Traveling in the pipes, he'll avoid the spikes and live to see the end of the level.
If you find your way into the vault marked on the map, do not jump to the floor. The bottom of this room is covered with deadly spikes. The only way out is to fly. Go to the morph station at the top and morph into flying Mohawk. Fly into the pipe at the right corner of the vault and warp out. You're on your way to another big fight.

The big baddie of this level looks like a tree with human limbs, and his bark is as bad as his bite. To get to the root of this problem, run along the ground when the tree bounces up and shoots at you. You would be better off leaving the air attacks to the evil shrub. Turn into a ball and spike him once he's planted firmly on the ground. If you time it right, you'll beat him to a pulp.
Welcome to the Wet Zone, home of swimming eyeballs, deadly laser stars, and stinging seaweed. There's no use trying to stay dry in this adventure. This is strictly a job for Frogman Mohawk.

When you reach the marked area on the right side of this map, hold Down on the Control Pad as you run to make Mohawk sink into the ground and come out in a new room. Once you've cleaned all the CDs out of this room, destroy the swinging enemy with a head banger explosion and climb the ledges to get to the second marked area. There are no enemies on the rock, so just keep pressing the Control Pad and run forward until you enter the secret tunnel and gather a few extra CDs.

Morph Mohawk into a frogman before jumping into the water. Swim Up against the rocks in the area marked on the map. A hidden tunnel will take you into a small cave with another morph station. Once you've emptied the cave, jump into the pipe in the corner.
Be sure to visit the treasure room toward the top of the zone. It’s your last chance power-up supply before entering the octo-enemy domain. Watch where you’re swimming on this level. Accidentally swimming into the bright red seaweed means instant death.

Last Minute Power-Ups

Morph into Frogman before taking on the grouchy-looking octo-enemy that controls this level. You can’t beat him unless Mohawk can breathe underwater. This impolite sea dweller spits ink and tries to bite you. Whatever you do, don’t try to swim over him. He loves to crush opponents with his head as they pass overhead. The octo enemy is tough, but he can handle only so many spike balls. Learn his tricks and stick it to him when he’s down.
Lissen up, fanboys! For those of you who ain't in the know, I'm Lobo, an' I'm the best o' the best. I'm the meanest, toughest fighter this side o' the Magodon Cluster, an' any feeb who says different is gonna get a grenade fer lunch!

The Main Man Is Here!

From the pages of DC Comics comes Lobo, the cigar chomping, leather jacketed, interstellar bounty hunter of ill repute and the biggest pain in the galaxy. Ocean of America is developing a tournament fighter based on this best-selling character, and we've got an exclusive preview. The prototype game we played was still buggy and lacked sound, but the graphics looked promising. Keep in mind that game elements and control commands may change before the Pak is released.
Modes of Play

Lobo is being fashioned along familiar fighting game lines, including a solo tournament mode, a two-player or multi-player Vs. mode and a Practice mode. The three difficulty settings are labeled Hard, Fraggin and Bastich, and we expect that these will provide most players with the appropriate levels of challenge.

Going Solo with Lobo

The Solo mode pits you against six of the deadliest beings in the galaxy. Each fighter has his or her own fighting style and special moves. You can only play Lobo in the Solo mode, so if you want to use one of the other characters, you’ll have to play the Vs. or Practice mode. The fighters appear in random order except for Dox, who is always your last opponent. You’ll notice that one of your Solo mode opponents looks just like Lobo. How is this possible? That being is actually a Lobo clone, and he has the same skills and bad attitude as the Main Man himself.

Lobo’s Story

Lobo is the sole survivor of the planet Czarnia, but don’t feel too sorry for him—he’s the one who destroyed it! As part of Lobo’s rehabilitation (and to keep an eye and blaster on him), Vril Dox drafted him into the interstellar police force known as L.E.G.I.O.N. After an argument over his paycheck, Lobo decided to go back to his previous profession, bounty hunting, to make some extra credits. Dox, however, is not about to let Lobo get away so easily!

VS. and Practice

The Vs. mode features a standard, two-player battle, and you can select any of the six fighters and six arenas. This mode also allows up to eight players to compete in a sudden death tournament. Each fighter has two life meters. The lower one shows your overall health, while the upper one shows one-quarter of your strength at a time. The one-player Practice mode also lets you select any fighter and arena, and your invincible opponent won’t fight back.
DeNitro

This explosive felon’s rap sheet is bigger and juicier than anything on the menu at Al’s Diner, his favorite hangout. The hyperspace truckers steer clear of him, but Lobo won’t have any qualms about shoving DeNitro’s face into his plate of Space Weevil Special!

DeNitro’s Tactics

Whether you play as him or fight against him, DeNitro is swift and deadly. The Plasma Blast gives him a powerful long-range punch. The Head Butt Charge can bring him in close and stun an opponent long enough to pull off a Shake & Bake surprise.

Special Moves:
- Plasma Blast
- Head Charge
- Stamp Quake
- Shake & Bake

Kringle’s Tactics

The computer-controlled Kringle loves to leap into action, and dual blades give this not-so-jolly elf an impressive reach. The Blizzard Breath can immobilize an opponent for several seconds, and the Spinning Knives maneuver can score up to three hits.

Special Moves:
- Spinning Knives
- Hold & Stab
- Blizzard Breath
- Wrap Opponent

Kringle

Rumor has it that a certain E. Bunny put out the contract on Kringle for overshadowing every other holiday figure. In any case, Kris “Krusher” Kringle knows that Lobo has been very naughty indeed, and he’s more than ready to stuff his stocking!
Loo

Intelligence reports indicate that the mass murderer known as Loo is hiding out in the sewers of the planet Almeida 7. Loo is one of the few beings with the guts (and the stupidity) to take on Lobo, and with his power level, there's no telling what he might do!

Loo's Tactics

Loo has a lot of raw power, and his basic attacks come in at different angles, giving him a lot more flexibility than some of the other fighters. He also has two projectile attacks, with the Big Gunshot hitting high and the Big Bayonet hitting low.

Shaola

Shaola has a lot of sweeping moves, and it's sometimes hard to tell where they'll hit. She doesn't have a projectile attack, but her Sword Thrust and Spin Kick have long reaches, and a lot of her kick moves will score double hits.

Shaola's Tactics

Shaola is a notorious thief and assassin, and after her last job, she went to ground on the desert planet Psoriasis 3. She's not one to pass up a challenge, however, and she's not about to let a chauvinist pig like Lobo get the better of her.
Lobo

If it wasn't for Vril Dox constantly riding herd on him, Lobo would probably spend all of his time warping around the galaxy on his hyperspeed space-hog looking for trouble. Trouble usually comes looking for him, though, and when that happens, all frag breaks loose!

Lobo's Tactics

Lobo's favorite weapon is his hooked chain, but it will score a hit at a particular range only. The Ram Grenade will take off one-quarter of an opponent's upper life bar, while the Stomp is hard to anticipate and defend against.

Stomp
Shoot Gun
Chain Spin
Drop Grenade
Ram Grenade

Special Moves

Dox's Tactics

Dox has a quick mind and the quick reflexes to go along with it. The computer-controlled Dox seems to favor the Spin Punch and the Double Punch. If you're controlling Dox, you'll find that these moves will work well for you, too.

Dox

Vril Dox proves that brains and brawn aren't mutually exclusive. The enigmatic L.E.G.O.N. leader possesses a 12th-level intelligence compared to the 6th-level minds of normal humanoids, and he's as tough as duranium nails, too.

Special Moves

Double Punch
Power Push
Nick Punch
Spin Punch
DeNitro's Blow Hole finishing move will send a huge plasma blast through your opponent's body. Press Back, Down/Back, Down, Down/Toward, Toward and any punch when your opponent's life bars are drained.

You can stand at any range from your opponent and fire off this plasma blast. This would be handy at your next barbecue!

Kringle's Blizzard Breath finishing move, which is similar to the normal Blizzard Breath attack, will make a frosty end to a ferocious bout. Press Back, Towards, Back, Towards and any punch to execute it.

This finishing move has only a limited range. Stand within a half screen of your opponent before you attempt it.

Like all finishing moves, the Extra Big Gunshot must be executed while your opponent is still reeling and before he or she collapses.

Loo is a pretty extreme guy and so is his finishing move! Press Down, Down/Toward, Toward, Down/Backward, Down and any punch to activate the Extra Big Gunshot. Watch the sparks (and the body parts) fly!

The Main Man's hook and chain is for more than just show! Press Toward, Back and any punch button to put your opponent out of your misery. The Hook and Shoot finishing move works at any range from your opponent.

Dox is not above using physical force to bring super-powered malcontents like Lobo to heel. At close range, press Toward, Down/Toward, Down, Down/Toeward, Toward and any punch to execute the Rip Out.

Shaola

Shaola has an extra special version of her Sword Thrust move reserved just for you. Press Back, Down/Back, Down, Down/Toward, Toward and any punch. This finishing move works at short to medium range.

If you manage to pull off this spectacular move against your opponent, there won't be much left for the next of kin to bury!

C'mere, fanboy! Uncle Lobo's brung ya a present, an' he wants ta deliver it up close an' personal!

As a duly appointed officer of the law, I order you to cease and desist, or I shall employ maximum force!
The votes are in, the results are tabulated and you, the Nintendo Power reader, have determined the best video games of 1995. Despite thousands of ballots, the voting was close between favorites in many categories. Twelve awards were evenly split between Donkey Kong Country 2: Diddy’s Kong Quest and Chrono Trigger, but only one title could be named the best Super NES game of the year. Who won? Read on and find out about all the winners of 1995.

BEST SOUND

From the creaking deck of the Gangplank Galleon to the intense soundtrack in the Kracodile Kore, gamers played it loudest with Donkey Kong Country 2: Diddy’s Kong Quest:

1. DONKEY KONG COUNTRY 2
2. CHRONO TRIGGER
3. KILLER INSTINCT

BEST STORY

Square Soft’s blend of science fiction and fantasy in Chrono Trigger made it a runaway favorite for the Best Story category. Ness and the EarthBound gang finished a distant second:

1. CHRONO TRIGGER
2. EARTHBOUND
3. SCOOBY DOO
BEST GRAPHICS

For the second year in a row, the games rendered with advanced computer modeling (ACM) won the award for Best Graphics. DKC 2 barely edged Killer Instinct for first place.

1. DONKEY KONG COUNTRY 2
2. KILLER INSTINCT
3. SUPER MARIO WORLD 2: YOSHI’S ISLAND

BEST SPORTS GAME

EA Sports’ NHL ’96 skated past the competition to become the first hockey game ever to win a Nintendo Power Award for Best Sports Game.

1. NHL ’96
2. TECMO SUPER BOWL III: THE FINAL EDITION
3. NFL QUARTERBACK CLUB ’96

BEST CHALLENGE

From the fiery depths of the Crocodile Cauldron to the stratospheric heights of The Flying Krock, readers picked DKC 2 for the Best Challenge from bottom to top.

1. DONKEY KONG COUNTRY 2
2. SUPER MARIO WORLD 2: YOSHI’S ISLAND
3. MORTAL KOMBAT 3

BEST PLAY CONTROL

A game won’t be a hit if the developers miss on play control design. This year readers picked Super Mario World 2: Yoshi’s Island for top honors in the Best Play Control category.

1. SUPER MARIO WORLD 2: YOSHI’S ISLAND
2. KILLER INSTINCT
3. DONKEY KONG COUNTRY 2
For the first time in the history of the Power Awards, the tournament fighting games dominated the Best Multi-Player Game category. MK 3 received twice as many votes as NHL '96.

1. KILLER INSTINCT
2. MORTAL KOMBAT 3
3. NHL '96

Like it or hate it, everyone has an opinion about gory games. Williams Entertainment's Doom edged out Mortal Kombat 3 to win it all in the first Nintendo Power "Owie" award.

1. DOOM
2. MORTAL KOMBAT 3
3. KILLER INSTINCT

Game players picked Chrono Trigger as the Best Epic Game of 1995. Fewer than two hundred votes separated EarthBound and The Secret of Evermore in the battle for second place.

1. CHRONO TRIGGER
2. EARTHBOUND
3. THE SECRET OF EVERMORE

Last year's runner-up for Worst Villain, Kapta K. Rool was in top form for his role in DKC 2. The kreepy Krock won easily over MK 3's Shao Khan and KI's Eyedol.

1. KAPTA K. ROOL
2. SHAO KHAN
3. EYEDOL

Power Award voters liked Zoop's lively graphics and challenging play. Zoop fans fired away more votes than Tetris Blast and Kirby's Avalanche combined.

1. ZOOP
2. TETRIS BLAST (GB)
3. KIRBY'S AVALANCHE
To infinity and beyond! Readers weren’t playing around when they mailed in their choices for the Best Game Based on a Movie: Toy Story buries its rivals.

1. TOY STORY
2. JUDGE DREDD
3. TRUE LIES

When it came to choosing a tournament fighting game, players picked Killer Instinct. Precise play control, killer characters and cool rendered graphics kept the game on top.

1. KILLER INSTINCT
2. MORTAL KOMBAT 3
3. WWF WRESTLEMANIA: THE ARCADE GAME

Nintendo Power readers found protecting bovines from space aliens to be utterly hilarious. Earthworm Jim 2 was the side-splitting favorite for Funniest Game of 1995.

1. EARTHWORM JIM 2
2. BOOGERMAN
3. EARTHBOUND

Cranky Kong threw a tantrum when he learned he lost the Best Goodie Award to an arachnid. “Back in my day, spiders were one color and they just bounced around in Centipede games!”

1. SQUIRTER THE SPIDER (DKC 2)
2. CRANKY KONG (DKC 2)
3. RUSH (MEGA MAN 7)

Vibrant, storybook graphics, diverse settings and an unexpected twist in the history of Mario and Luigi made Super Mario World 2: Yoshi’s Island the Most Innovative Game of 1995.

1. SUPER MARIO WORLD 2: YOSHI’S ISLAND
2. EARTHBOUND
3. OGRE BATTLE

1. TOY STORY
2. JUDGE DREDD
3. TRUE LIES
Variety was the key to winning this year’s Best Ending award. Players preferred any one of the twelve possible endings in Chrono Trigger DKC 2 was close behind in second place.

1. CHRONO TRIGGER
2. DONKEY KONG COUNTRY 2

Nobody likes to hear a baby cry, especially a baby bounced off the back of a dinosaur. You have two solutions: You can practice and play better or turn down the volume.

1. CRYBABY MARIO (SUPER MARIO WORLD 2: YOSHI’S ISLAND)
2. NESS, PHONE HOME! (EARTHBOUND)
3. HOLD ON (BATMAN FOREVER)

When it comes to getting around, players are partial to arriving punctually with the Epoch Time Machine. Mario fans gave Yoshi enough voting support to finish close behind.

1. EPOCH TIME MACHINE (CHRONO TRIGGER)
2. YOSHI (SUPER MARIO WORLD 2: YOSHI’S ISLAND)
3. UPD (EARTHBOUND)

Players gave Wario a big “thumbs up” for his Virtual Boy debut. Wario Land’s combination of innovative 3-D game play and superb play control made it a hands-down favorite.

1. WARIO LAND
2. MARIO’S TENNIS
3. RED ALARM

Rendered graphics on Game Boy? Seeing is believing, and the believers liked what they saw. They gave Donkey Kong Land top marks as the Best Game Boy Pak of the year.

1. DONKEY KONG LAND
2. KIRBY’S DREAMLAND 2

Red Crystal Refill
Seta's supernatural slug fest will be a bit easier to complete once you use this handy code. Press Start to pause your game, then press Up, X, Right, A, Down, B, Left and Y to refill your Red Crystal (strength) meter. This code can be used at any time and as often as you like. Keeping your strength meter full at all times is a good idea because if you are at full strength, collecting a Red Crystal will fill half a bar on your life meter.

You can use the code at any time during the game.
At full strength, even Frank won't be so formidable!

Special Passwords
Here are a few more special Syndicate passwords. The first one starts you off at the beginning of the game with over 1.6 million in cash, a full roster of agents and a huge cache of weapons. The rest of the passwords are a mixed bag, with some leaving you out in the cold with hardly any resources. See if you can decipher the words or phrases the passwords are made of by adding in the missing vowels!

SYNDICATE

Play As Ivan Ooze
This code allows you to play as Ivan Ooze in the two-player Fighting Mode. Highlight any character on the character select screen, press and hold Y and X, then press Start. Get ready to power up!

This code will work for either or both players.
I would've gotten away with it, if it weren't for you meddling kids!
It may take a bit of practice to enter the code correctly. How about a change of scenery? Hyah!

Uppercut To The Next Level

This Kombat Kode, which works in the two-player mode, lets you blast your opponent through the ceiling and into another arena with an uppercut punch. On the Vs. screen, enter 221 on Controller I and 557 on Controller II; that is, press Y twice, B twice and A once on Controller I, and press Y five times, B five times and A seven times on Controller II. Because the screen fades so quickly, you’ll have to press the buttons simultaneously.

It may take a bit of practice to enter the code correctly. How about a change of scenery? Hyah!

Invincibility and Stage Skip

Use the passwords below to make yourself invulnerable or to give yourself the ability to skip to the next stage. When using the stage skip password, press Start to pause the action, then press X to skip to the next level or press B to skip to the end of the game.

Ms. Stone Makes Weird Jelly

(Invincibility)

Barney Grabs Blue Trees

(Stage Skip)

Sticks and stones won’t break your bones!

Now you can jump ahead of any prehistoric peril.

Sudden Death Mode

In Super Bomberman 2, a match usually ends with the arena shrinking slightly to trap unwary players. With this special password, the play field will close in until there’s practically nothing left! Enter 5656 as your password, then start a multiplayer game.

This password works only in the multiplayer mode.

Let’s see who’s really paying attention!

You’ll hear a ton if you enter the code correctly.

Play As Eyedol

The Master of Mayhem is here! This code allows you to choose Eyedol in the two-player mode of KI for Game Boy. Choose any combatant, then hold Right and press Select, Start, B and A on the Vs. screen.

Unlimited Continues

You'll hear a "bleep" if the code is entered correctly.

Finishing the game will now be just a matter of time.

Champion Screen and Credits

Want to skip the blood, sweat and tears? When the referee raises your hand after winning a match, press and hold A, B, X, Y, L, R, and Select, then press Start. You'll jump straight to the Championship screen and credits.

After winning a match, press and hold A, B, X, Y, L, R, and Select, then press Start.

You'll hear a "bleep" if the code is entered correctly.

Finishing the game will now be just a matter of time.

Jet Mode

Use this code to activate the super-fast Jet mode. On the title screen, press Up, Up, Select, A, Down, Down, Select, and B. If the code is entered correctly, you'll hear a "boom," and the logo will change its shade or color.

On the title screen, press Up, Up, Select, A, Down, Down, Select and B.

You'll now move at about twice the normal speed.

Enter the code before the title screen fades out.

Tough Game Mode

As if facing a crazed Carnage and a horde of alien/human symbiotes wasn't bad enough, this secret password will activate a supercharged Tough Game mode. Even minor gang members will be strong enough to give Spidey a run for his webbing!

Enter M, R, R, Y, P and N as your password.

You'll be able to see (and feel) the difference!
Battle the Bosses
This code will transform the Fight Mode into the Fight 2 Mode, which pits you against all of the bosses in the game. Press B five times on the title screen, then press Start to make the Fight 2 Mode option appear.

Enter the code on the title screen, then press Start.

There will be fewer battles, but oh, what battles they'll be!

Better Offense
To increase your offensive capability, press A, B, Up, A, B, Up and Down. "OFFENSE" will flash on the screen before the game starts.

Better Push
To increase your pushing power, press Down, Right, A, B, A, Right and Down. "PUSH" will flash on the screen before the game starts.

More Turbo
You won't need those cool shoes if you press B, B, A, Down, Down, Up and Left. "TURBO" will flash on the screen before the game starts.

Quick Hndle
Press Left, Left, Left, Left, A and Right to improve your chances of making a steal. "QUICK HND" will flash on the screen before the game starts.

Speed Up
If you like your hoops fast and furious, press Up four times, Left four times, B and A. There's no confirmation message with this code.

Max Power
Press Right, Right, Left, Right, B, B, and Right to increase your players' Power stats. "MAX PLYR" will flash on the screen before the game starts.

Cheats Galore
We printed a fine selection of cheats for the Game Boy version of NBA Jam T.E. back in Volume 81, and here are a few more to round out the list. All of these codes should be entered on the "Tonight's Match-Up" screen. Some codes will give you a message just before the opening tip-off.

Experts, shmexperts!
If you've got an awesome tip or a killer code, send it in! We'll print your stuff alongside the pros' codes. So what are you waiting for? Warm up your brain pans, crack your knuckles and press those buttons!
The second interactive story appearing in Nintendo Power Source on America Online—Blood of the Chozo—has finally wound down after three and a half months of intense creativity, bloody space battles and courageous acts of heroism in the distant Messina star system.

The role-playing story encompassed the futuristic world of the Metroid series of games—at least, that was how it began. But as you will see from the excerpts printed here, that world took on a life of its own and became a sprawling theater full of space mutants, bounty hunters, evil scientists and noble warriors.

So what exactly is an interactive story? Our on-line fans have practically pioneered this form of e-tale in Power Source's Epic Center. It's a simple concept. Everyone begins with the same frame work for a story that sets the scene and location of the action. Also, there are basic rules that limit the types of actions that can be performed by characters. For instance, in this case, no magic was allowed. Power Sourcers then launch into the fray, introducing their own characters by way of bulletin-board postings. Chozo characters had to belong to one of five professional guilds: the bounty-hunters, the engineers, the merchants, the marshals and trogs. Over 6,000 postings were added to the story folders by budding sci-fi writers during the course of the story. Michael Yosafl, a.k.a. DarkPanda, a 17 year old Chozo writer, told us that he was surprised by the evolution of the story. "Most writers started out with simple, space 'shoot-em-up' stories. Over time, however, most of the storylines developed into something more...characters grew and developed. Ultimately, the interactive stories on-line might be the best form of edutainment."

The plot revolved around an invasion of the True Chozo—an alien race based on the Chozo characters from the Metroid games. The story begins with the devastation of the Nextima space station in orbit around the planet, Charybdis. The following excerpts from Blood of the Chozo illustrate the exciting brand of adventure the users created on-line.

This chilling introductory scene, which was uploaded by Nintendo Power Source staffers, set the stage for participants who were itching to join the fight.

This is Tyull, Hovan for Charybdis VidNews. Samus Aran reports that on her approach to our system, she was overtaken by a massive ship fighters sent out from the asteroid ship have already begun attacking targets across the system, killing beings and destroying property seemingly at random. The only communications received from the invaders have been the words, "The True Chozo are here. Submit."

The second interactive story appearing in Nintendo Power Source on America Online—Blood of the Chozo—has finally wound down after three and a half months of intense creativity, bloody space battles and courageous acts of heroism in the distant Messina star system.
The Overdog computer, run by Nintendo Power Source staffers, gave direction to storytellers throughout the game.

Those non-engineer citizens seeking products designed, repaired or manufactured must first find a member of the Engineers’ Guild willing to perform the job. Members of other guilds performing such tasks are in clear violation of OD Code # 110373a.

Joshman773 added a history lesson on the True Chozo.

The True Chozo is an ancient subdivision of the Chozo. They were exiled from the universe by the Chozo after they attempted to gain control of a star system using military power. They have been reported wandering near the edge of the galaxy by many systems. They travel in a swarm of over 1000 ships. They are believed to have reformed their violent ways. There has been no contact between the True Chozo and other sentient races since the exile.

Some storytellers, like RawleyCoop, introduced whimsical characters such as this first meeting with a species called “dust bunnies”.

Maccaly was standing in the Engineers’ guild when she heard a strange high-pitched voice.

“Nice guild boss say you have ship need fixing. We help. We fix. Where ship?”

Maccaly looked around. She was alone. There was nothing nearby that would explain the strange voice.

“Silly human! We are down here. Look down. Dust Bunnies not floating in air. Silly human.” The same voice said laughing.

DarkShade4 thrived on technical details, as did many of the storytellers.

The 11,200 IC Wing had received for his work aboard the Station Nextima had bought him a new Fusion reactor that could make it 1.9 past light speed, a new Nitroglicerine Fusion Core so he could now use Over Drive and not worry about blowing out his Life-support, and of course, what Bounty Hunter ship would be complete without Brand spanking new, top of the Line Laser Banks and a Cloaking device that could shield him from Minor Scans.

Even Nintendo Power’s on-line staff members, such as Geoff Rainville, were turned into characters by the enterprising storytellers.

“All right, all ready!” After Rainville sputtered his retaliation, the loud buzz of the Infinity Cannon poured into the room.

CaptAustin advertised his fictional wares in the Merchants Guild folder.

This is Captain Jack’s Holo-cards. Don’t be taken in by those copy cat card makers. Most holo-card dealers just take your order, send the job off to planet Earth, wait 10 to 12 days, when the cards come back, they roll in their mark-up, and call you. Buy direct. Our professionals replicate holo-cards in-house.
Dark Panda, one of the most prolific storytellers involved with Blood of the Chozo, drew inspiration from his surroundings. A quartz clock next to his computer gave him the idea for Mr. Quartz.

After infiltrating a True Chozo base on Charybdis, and saving Mr. Quartz’s captive family. Dark seizes a True Chozo ship and goes to the city of Scylla B, where he obtains supplies for his newly acquired ship. After leaving Mr. Quartz’s family in the care of the Marshal’s Dark and Quartz set out for the city of Scylla A, located on the planet Scylla.

References to other video games could be found everywhere, as in this scene from DarkPanda.

As the reploids approached, Marc could see the metal panels and tubing that made up their bodies. Each one had a large insignia on its chest. The symbol looked like it said “Dr. W”.

Mariner980 had a flare for action scenes.

With small plumes of flame, two small tracking devices burst out of the torpedo tubes and sped towards the True Chozo ships...he saw them swerve deftly through the air and attach to the side of each Chozo ship. The frightened True Chozo initialized their thrusters and took off into space.

Dark Panda followed Dr. Vincent’s arrival on the ruined moon of Oztaki.

While the two reploids Achilles and Ulysses operated the controls, the giant Chozo statue landed gently on the ground. Over a mile tall, the statue loomed over the base ominously. Dr. Vincent was practically mad with joy, and cried out, “Finally! I’m home!”

Some storytellers, such as HW CASE and Dark Panda, used each other’s characters, adding an interactive flavor to the stories they told.

HW CASE
DARK PANDA HEARD A NOISE. SUDDENLY HE WAS SHOT. SUDDENLY A COUNT DOWN TO DESTRUCTION STARTED 20 19 18.......

DarkPanda
Dark Panda reeled from the blast. “What hit me?”

“You appear to have been wounded by enemy laser fire,” Mr. Quartz explained, as he pushed Dark to the ground.

Not laser beams flashed over them.

HW CASE
SUDDENLY THE BASE RUMBLED AND A VOICE SAID “GIVE ME DELTA NOW OR DIE” AND THEN SILENCE.

DarkPanda
“What was that?” Mr. Quartz looked nervously around.

“That’s HW CASE,” Delta explained. “He’s hunted me down ever since the True Chozo invasion of Scylla. He hopes to collect the bounty that’s been placed on my head. While I was prisoner here in the Marshal base, no bounty hunters could cash in. But now....”

The McCalum Saga by Lorn01 featured some masterful descriptive passages.

Coming around the planet was the biggest ship I had ever seen. It was pulsing with light and bristling with weapons. It had a glass dome on top and I could see, far away as I was, what looked to be a very large pulsing brain sitting on a pedestal in the middle of the bridge area. This was obviously the mastermind behind the True Chozo.
This poignant scene at the end of the story from Lorn01 was just one example of fine writing that could be found in the Chozo folders.

And then he did something I never expected him to do. He leaned forward and embraced me. I returned his embrace, and we stayed that way for a long time. I never saw Nathan Jaaken again. The crew of the Serapis was disbanded and we all went back to our normal duties. He was killed a year later by a roving band of pirates. The True Chozo were never seen again.

This message from the Overdog led to the grand finale.

Reconnaissance teams have reported a huge massing of enemy warships near the planet Inteira. It is believed that the "True Chozo" are preparing themselves for a massive invasion of the main planet of the Messina System in order to overthrow the Overdog and the ruling council.

DarkPanda's final entry summed up the feelings of many participants. The Blood of the Chozo was a tale that would live on for those who lived in this vibrant, on-line world.

For years after that, Dark would often be heard telling the story of the Messina war... and the incredible tale of "The Blood of the Chozo".

Samus showed up at the end of the conflict thanks to Jippykid. The bounty hunter explained why she hadn't been around to stop the invading True Chozo forces.

Houston grinned from ear to ear. "Where have you been during this big crisis?"

"Me?," said Samus. "Well, after I got in that ship accident at the beginning of the Chozo attack, they hid me in a secret hospital and started my rehabilitation. I was supposed to get ready to go out and save the universe again. But it looks like I had nothing to worry about."

The Power writer who master-minded the frame story for Chozo created far more material than that which actually appeared in the interactive story. The race of benign bird-folk, the Chozo, were chosen as the antagonists because they were so enigmatic and yet linked to the origin of Samus Aran.

When Samus was just six years old, pirates attacked and destroyed the human settlement. Captain Thea Aran and Chief Engineer Avram Aran were both killed in the raid. Solomon Aran, Samus's four year old brother, was missing and presumed dead. Samus was rescued by the Chozo, a bird-like race from the neighboring planet Zebes. She was raised on Zebes by an old Chozo priest, but she eventually left to make her fortune among the stars. At 16 years old, Samus became the youngest Apprentice ever admitted into the ranks of the Bounty Hunter's Guild.

In the end, of course, the legacy of Blood of the Chozo comes not from the many story lines or characters who gained a tentative life in cyberspace, but from the hundreds of storytellers who learned that adventures can be found in unexpected places. Where will they go next? The rumor is that Nintendo Power Source will soon open a magical door into the kingdom of Hyrule. Now, how's that for a link?
The Final Four is long over, but you can relive the thrill of victory with College Slam from Acclaim. This month's poster features codes for both the Super Nintendo and Game Boy versions of the game plus the low down on the nine hidden first team—Championships for history, but the action never stops in College Slam!

TODAY'S MATCH-UP

Fans have come to expect lots of cool power-up codes in Acclaim's basketball games, and College Slam doesn't disappoint. To activate the power-ups, input the proper code on the "Today's Match-Up" screen after the announcer starts to speak and before the screen fades. If you input them correctly, most of the codes will generate a message that appears on the lower left side of the screen just before the opening tip-off. These codes will work in any play mode except Season Match-Up.
SHOOT PERCENTAGE

Whenever you shoot, the computer will calculate the odds of your making the basket and display the results in the lower left corner of the screen. You can use these numbers to better gauge your players' offensive strengths and see which zones they shoot best from. Percentages are not displayed for jams. The idea is that if a player is skillful enough to execute one, then success is almost guaranteed. If a player has a low Dunk rating, he won't try to jam in the first place.

QUICK HANDS

If you like to get into your opponents' faces, then this is the code for you. Press Left, A, B and Y to activate the Quick Hands power-up. This allows you to knock the ball out of your opponents' hands consistently and, if your Stealing and Blocking abilities are good enough, take control of the ball. If you use this code to power up a team that already has good defensive capabilities and decent Speed ratings, you'll be able to stop any offense before it starts.

JAMMIN' COLLEGE

MAX POWER

This code is great for players who like the running game. With the Max Power code, you won't tire as easily and you'll never run out of turbo power, no matter what the turbo meter says. You're still vulnerable to injury, though, so don't think you can make it through an entire game with the same players. Even if you're speeding around the court at full tilt, your other abilities may begin to suffer if you get injured.

ON FIRE

To be "on fire" all of the time, press Left, Right, Left, Up, Down and Down very quickly. Your players will perform at peak efficiency throughout the game. The effect of this code is more subtle than what you'll get with most of the other power-ups, but you'll find that more of your daring plays will succeed and you'll do better overall in the clutch. This is one of the tougher codes to execute, but it's well worth the effort!

3-POINT POWER

The 3-Point power-up increases your chances of hitting a three-point shot from anywhere on the court, but there's still no guarantee of success. The better your 3-Point stats are to begin with, the more shots you'll make. Most good three-point shooters have a couple of "sweet spots" on the court where they perform very well, but with the code activated, you may find that you now have more sweet spots to choose from.
The Kappa Sigma motto could easily be, “Speed, speed and more speed.” The Small Forward is the only player to rate less than a five in this category, and he’s also the only chink in the team’s otherwise powerful defensive armor. The rest have good stats in Stealing or Blocking or both. Don’t go for a three-pointer unless you’re wide open.

Are you one of those players who wishes that goal tending was legal? Well, wish no more! Press Down, Down, Down, Up, Up and Up to strike that restriction from the rulebook. Look for a team that has good Speed, Blocking and Stealing skills. If you’re fast enough to beat your opponents to the hoop, you’ll have it made. Denied!

To add nine awesome fraternity teams to the lineup, press Up, Down, Left, Right, Up, Down, Left and Right on the title screen. If the code is entered correctly, you’ll hear a tone. These teams are available in the Head-to-Head, Semi-Final and Tournament play modes. The frat teams may show up as your computer-controlled opponents, so get to know all of their strengths and weaknesses and be prepared to face them. They may not be as famous as some of the big name teams in the NCAA, but these frat cats can slam and jam with the best of ’em!

The Kappa Sigma motto could easily be, “Speed, speed and more speed.” The Small Forward is the only player to rate less than a five in this category, and he’s also the only chink in the team’s otherwise powerful defensive armor. The rest have good stats in Stealing or Blocking or both. Don’t go for a three-pointer unless you’re wide open.

The boys of Lambda Chi are going to have to work very hard if they want to make the cut. Despite some good numbers here and there, the majority of them don’t have enough Power to see them through the rough stuff. You’ll probably be able to coax some good plays out of them, but try to keep them from getting injured early in the half.

The strongest pair here is the Small Forward and the Center. With these two on the boards, you’ll have a good offensive/defensive balance and the Power to make it through most of a half, barring injuries. The Point Guard will serve well as a sub for either player. The Power Forward and the Shooting guard are either too slow or tire too easily.

COLLEGE SLAM

Press Start
GAME BOY SLAMMIN'

Not to be outdone by its 16-bit sibling, the Game Boy version of College Slam has a couple of codes of its own. These are also entered on the “Today’s Match-Up” screen, but the screen won’t fade until you press Start, so you can make sure you’ve got them right if the codes are entered correctly, you’ll see a message at the top of the screen before the tip off. We haven’t found any hidden teams yet, but if we do, we’ll let you know!

SHOT PERCENTAGE

Press Down, B, Up, Up and Down to activate the Shot Percentage display. The odds of your making a shot will be shown at the top of the screen, making it easy to monitor your performance. You can use the display to gauge the “risk factor” of different kinds of plays and tailor your offensive strategy to your players’ strengths and weaknesses.

3-POINT POWER

This code won’t turn a poor shooter into a superstar, but if a player already has a good 3-Point rating, this code will significantly increase his success rate. Of course, the code can’t compensate for a bad shooting position or a good block from a defender, but you can rack up a lot of extra points if you’re careful.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

The S.A.E. squad has a symmetry that you don’t often find, and they have the flexibility to play inside and outside. Both forwards have high Dunking, Blocking and Power stats, while both guards count 3-Pointers and Clutch play as their strengths. You can mix and match these players to fit almost any type of game plan you care to dream up.

SIGMA EPSILON

This is a team that loves to play on the inside and duke it out under the basket. Blocking and Dunking are their strong points, so don’t be afraid to get in your opponents’ faces. A couple of them are not particularly fast, but most of them have enough Power to get them across the court before their Turbo meters run out.

SIGMA CHI

You may be able to win a few games with Sigma Chi, but it will take some creative substitutions to get them to the playoffs. Though no one team member is particularly weak, the team as a whole has a noticeable deficit in Stealing, Blocking and Clutch play. Use the Shooting Guard as the team’s anchor and the basis for any overall strategy.

DAYTONA BEACH

They’re not the most powerful team around, but Daytona Beach will acquit themselves well in most situations. Speed and 3-Point ability are the high points on this squad’s stat sheet. Power is somewhat lacking, but while you’ll have to substitute at every opportunity, every player is more than capable of pulling his own weight.

SIGMA NU

This is the kind of team that works best with two players at the controls. The Power Forward and Center are strong outside shooters, while the others have more stamina and are better under the basket. Pass the ball a lot and look for an opening. The outside man can’t cut and pass or take the shot, while the inside man can dunk or go for the rebound.

PALM SPRINGS

Once again, we find a team with certain parallels between pairs of players. In this case of Palm Springs, both of the Guards have Speed and 3-Point ability but no Power, while the Forward and Center have good Power and Clutch ability. The Power Forward lives up to his name with a Power rating of eight, but he lacks skill in other areas.
Super Mario RPG
-Legend of the Seven Stars-
Coming in May to your SUPER NES
from NINTENDO
POCKET MONSTERS

This Super Game Boy RPG title (or titles) appeared recently in Japan from Nintendo. For the first time ever, Nintendo published a game in two versions simultaneously.

In order to distinguish between the two versions, one was packaged in red, the other in green. (According to Japanese trivia experts, the green package is outselling the red.) Each version contains a different set of monsters, which players use to attack enemies. During the course of play, chosen monsters gain strength just like characters in a regular RPG party. You have many monsters from which to choose, but most players tend to stick to a couple of favorites since it takes so much time to build up extra monsters. But the coolest part of the game is the trading option. When two Pocket Monster players use the Game Link to hook up their Game Boys, they can transfer monster data from one game to the other, whether it’s the green or red version. You can boost your strength by leaps and bounds by importing the best monsters from both versions into your current game. Some players are so enamored of Pocket Monsters that they have purchased both versions in order to own all the monsters. With both games, they can play up the best monsters and transfer them all into their current game.

SUPER DEVELOPERS WANTED (IN JAPAN)

One of the big projects just getting underway by Nintendo in Japan is Super Mario RPG 2 for the Nintendo 64. That’s right, and it’s huge news. But before you can make a game, you have to find the right team. We came across this advertisement in a March issue of Famitsu magazine from Japan, which invites programmers, designers, directors and sound designers to send in their resumes and samples of their work. Programmers must send in code or source files while the sound guys need to drop off a tape of their compositions. The requirement for the director position, however, sounds pretty wide open. “Please send an essay on the theme, ‘What is important in game development?’” The ad also asks that they send “something” that represents their talent. With those criteria, your Epic Center editor even thought about applying, but the commute from Redmond would be tiresome. On the other hand, if you live in Japan, the successful candidate will relocate to Tokyo, Kyoto, or Yamanashi where Nintendo’s HAL subsidiary is based. So what does all of this tell us about the game? Not much, just that Super Mario RPG 2 is on its way for N64 and it should be a major gaming event for RPG and adventure fans. As Mario scratches his chin while pondering his future, we can safely predict that it looks very bright.
THE PILLAGING SMITHY

Only a brave little band led by Mario can thwart a supernatural invader who has vowed world conquest! Last month’s Nintendo Power detailed how the sword-shaped Smithy plunged through Bowser’s Keep and unleashed his minions to wreak havoc on the land. Mario teamed up with Mallow, a rotund rogue with a strange gift for changing the weather, to find the first of seven missing Star Pieces. They battled underworld demons in the Kero Sewers and received the first lessons from wise, old Frogfucius, Mallow’s adoptive grandfather. Even more fantastic adventures await Mario and Mallow now, including an encounter with an otherworldly traveler who reveals the secret of the stars!
Slap-happy stars and fightin' flowers patrol the coin-rich route to Rose Town. Ride the platforms over the lagoons, but don't forget to take island holidays to grab the Mushroom and Flower power-ups just before you stumble upon Bowser's training maneuvers, you'll find five Shy Guys standing guard atop five Treasure Boxes. Four of the boxes contain five coins apiece, while the remaining box contains a Flower power-up. Each time you leave and re-enter this area, the boxes will refill. It's a good opportunity to make some fast cash!

MARIO, MAP RAP

Early in his quest, Mario received a map of the World from the Chancellor of the Mushroom Kingdom. Unfurl it whenever you want to see where you've been and where you're going. The world is so huge, though, that the map can't show the details of Mario's route. You can see those in the regional maps the adventurers use when journeying from one part of the world to another.
An unseen villain has laid siege to this quiet village, flinging arrows tipped with a mysterious potion that immobilizes their victims! To protect themselves, Mario and Mallow should visit the Item Shop, where they can purchase and equip themselves with Trueform Pins. Note the path leading behind the Item Shop. Later in the game, return to see what it leads to. If Mario jumps up to the house on the hill, he'll find Treasure Boxes filled with power-ups. The duo should make their last stop at the Inn, where big-hearted Mario will play with the innkeeper's son before sacking out. In the middle of the night, Mario has a strange vision of the boy's doll springing to life, growing to Mario-size and heading for the woods!

"I just saw a doll in a blue cape walking towards the forest!"

To reach this man's house, you'll have to jump on his noggin. Inside you'll find the scamp who made the house's front steps vanish. Jump on a switch to make the steps rematerialize.

The gentle folk of Rose Town repay all good deeds. The grateful father will give you a bit of advice. Follow it when you enter the Forest Maze and you'll find this trove of Treasure Boxes.

Mobile mushrooms will try to charm you into becoming one of their own, while pests above and below ground will try to sap your powers with some nasty poison. Fortunately, a tall glass of Able Juice will restore the ol' vim and vigor. When you see the walking doll, step on it! Before you catch up with it, though, you'll run into the crazed archer besieging Rose Town.
Despite a rather loose grip on the English language, Bowyer has marshaled an impressive army to battle Rose Town. Aiming to take in some target practice, he's more than a bit annoyed when a scout shows up with one of the missing Star Pieces. When the living doll dashes in and demands it back, he gets really mad. And few creatures are more dangerous than a goofy-eyed archer with an attitude!

Figuring that three against one isn't fair, Bowyer changes the rules. When he shoots an arrow, it disables the controller button it lands on.

The living doll, who calls himself Geno, says that Smithy has shattered the Star Road, causing seven Star Pieces to fall to earth. Mario and Mallow are elated when this enchanted newcomer offers to join their little band. The three should first make a side trip to the Pipe Vault, where they can fatten their wallet and increase their Flower Power.

Avoid the Piranha Plant, sometimes known as the Tyrannosaurus Rex of the plant world.

What's a Moleville miner doing here? Running a little game of skill, that's what.

The Nipper Plants are greedy little fellows, relieving you of cash every time you land on one. Land between the pots if you can.

Dodge Sparky by timing your leaps over the lava lake. If forced to fight, use regular attacks. Mario's Fire Orb won't faze these fireballs.
Talk about just desserts! Your prize for beating Boshi is three Yoshi Cookies, which allow you to call on Yoshi in the midst of future battles.

Way down South the Yoshis spend much of their time lolling in the sun and sipping fruity drinks with paper parasols. Ah, but all is not bliss in this tropical paradise. It seems that Boshi, a bad dino with shades, has been routing the competition in the race known as the Mushroom Derby. Boshi will race only one rival at a time, which makes it tough for the other Yoshis. With a few Yoshi Cookies and a bit of rhythm, though, Mario and Yoshi can make Boshi eat humble pie.

You've got yourself a race...one-on-one!

For a power boost, eat a Yoshi Cookie during the race. The other Yoshis can't race, but they'll provide plenty of moral support.

Keep to the beat if you want to beat Boshi to the finish line. Toad will coach you.

Use a Yoshi Cookie to summon the doughty dino. Yoshi will swallow enemies and convert them into valuable items, such as Able Juice.

PSST ... WANNA BUY A GAME?

If Mario returns to the Inn in the Mushroom Kingdom, he'll find a little boy in the corner intently playing a hand-held shooting game. A Mushroom Boy Arcade Classic, perhaps, and it's for sale. Asking price: a whopping 500 coins! It's better to forego pleasure until the business of defeating the Smithy Gang is done.
MOLEVILLE
This mining town is rife with rumors about a Star Piece crashing into the nearby mountain. Two little moles, Dyna and Mite, went to look and are now trapped. Mario, Mallow and Geno decide to embark on a mission of mercy. Before leaving, they should make the usual shopping trip to load up on armor and Maple Syrups, which restore 40 Flower Points. They’ll have to pay close attention to the directional signs if they don’t want to get lost in the labyrinth of tunnels.

HAVING A BLAST
Just when things seem to be getting back to normal, Mario, Mallow and Geno confront another villain with goo-goo eyes. Punchinello, the purple prince of pow, unleashes wave after wave of increasingly bigger Bob-Ombs at the heroic threesome. While Mario and Geno fight Punchinello, Mallow should defuse the explosive emissaries with his Thunderbolt. Eventually a very big bomb will blow them all sky-high. To survive, they’ll have to catch a falling Star Piece— pronto!

SMITHY AWAITS...
With his Troopas deserting left and right, Bowser drafts a certain mustachioed plumber into the Koopa Troops. Our heroes become enmeshed in treachery in high places as they seek to solve the mystery of Mallow’s past. They must also dive deep beneath the sea and cross a trackless desert before reaching their final goal: a showdown with Smithy!
A TIME FOR HEROES

Lufia II: Rise of the Sinistrals is a 20-megabit, battery-backed Pak crammed with puzzles, labyrinths and monsters. Role-playing game fans who enjoyed the brain-teasers in Lufia and the Fortress of Doom won't be disappointed by the sequel. There are scores of challenging puzzles throughout 30 dungeons and towers. This month's Epic review covers only the first half.

Lufia II

Rise of the Sinistrals

THE DUAL BLADE RESONATES

The ringing of the Dual Blade signals judgment day in Lufia. Arek, the Sinistral leader, hears the call and rallies his forces. No longer will the world be divided between the Sinistrals and the humans. One society will rule the land. Unprepared for battle, the humans need a hero to unite them against Arek’s forces. Are you the chosen one?

Lufia II has plenty of puzzles and mazes. If you’re stuck in a room, start over at the entrance by casting the “Reset” spell.

When the going gets tough, the tough find better weapons. The game includes over 18 unique weapons and 215 different monsters.

The Dragon Egg is one of nearly 240 items included in the game. To learn the purpose of an item, select it and press the X Button.
Capsule monsters are friendly creatures that fight beside you in battle. There are seven different breeds in the game. You can find your first capsule monster in the Foomy Tribe north of Sunderlan, next the woods by Alunze Kingdom. These monsters change and grow as you feed them weapons and armor.

Keep your party's magic and physical strength balanced. You can purchase spells and weapons in cities and villages.

You will find capsule monster tribes throughout the land. These friendly creatures join your party and fight by your side.

Capsule monsters grow strong with regular feeding. You'll see a growth spurt if you feed them special food he craves.

PERPLEXING PUZZLES

You can pass the time in the numerous mazes, cities or casinos in Lufia, but many adventurers will spend hours pondering the puzzles throughout the game. Every tower or dungeon features brainteasers involving blocks, pillars, switches, tiles and monsters. Solving a puzzle leads you to new areas inside the maze or to valuable treasure.

Build bridges and throw switches as you delve into the dark dungeon depths. When you need a break, test your luck at a casino.

FIGHT WITH UP TO FIVE COMBATANTS IN YOUR PARTY. LUFIAN II INCLUDES OVER 142 MAGIC SPELLS, THAT ADD VERSATILITY TO YOUR TACTICS.

Your quest begins in your hometown, Elcid. You are Maxim the monster hunter, an adventurer whose biggest worry in the world is keeping your childhood friend, Tia, from getting romantic ideas. While you're too young to get tied down, you like Tia's help fighting monsters. And ever since the strange lights appeared in the sky, there have been plenty of monsters running around Elcid.

MAXIM

The main character in Lufia II, Maxim struggles to find his path in life as he defends humanity against the Sinistrals invasion.

TIA

Tia possesses powerful magical spells. Her overwhelming concern for Maxim haunts her in the party—and often in Maxim's way.

GUY

A master swordsman, Guy enlists in the cause against the Sinistrals after his sister is kidnapped. Guy cannot cast spells.

SELAN

Selan's experience as the commander of the Percelyte Army makes her the perfect warrior. She can use both magic and heavy weapons.

Cave to Sundletan

Lizard men inhabiting the Cave to Sundletan are attacking travelers and disrupting trade. If you can recover the Cave Key, order will be restored.

Jars on Switches

Some doors won’t budge when you push on them. To open them, look for a switch inside the room. If the door closes when you step off a switch, try placing a jar where you’re standing.

Lake Cave

If you’re going to stop the earthquakes that are shaking up the folks in Sundletan, you need to defeat the catfish submerged inside the Lake Cave.

Sharp-Shooting Puzzle

Solve this puzzle to unlock the door leading to the Insect Sword. Most puzzle rooms in Lufia II conceal valuable treasures or entrances to guardians’ lairs.

Create a Triangle

You can move only three blocks to flip the block triangle and open the passage leading to the Lake Key. See if you can get the point.

Cross the Moat

While Maxim can’t swim, he can create bridges. Use the three pieces of bridge to build a walkway across the moat. The switch in the middle of the room drains the water.

Fake Wall

The caverns beneath the land of Lufia have many secrets. Press against the all labyrinth walls to check for hidden passages. Your persistence will eventually be rewarded.

Persistence and attention to detail can pay off when you’re treasure hunting. Push against the wall here and grab the hide armor.

Secret Cave

You can’t uncover all secrets or solve all the puzzles immediately. For instance, you can’t cross this gap until you have the hookshot. Remember to return with it later.

Even after you have the cave key, you’ll need the hookshot to explore the other side of this watery gap. Remember to come back here later.
GET FOOMY!
A capsule monster from the Foomy Tribe wants to join your party. To find him, walk to the big tree near the coast west of the Lake Cave. Your Foomy friend looks small at first, but you can make him grow by feeding him weapons and armor. Capsule monsters are finicky eaters and prefer expensive equipment.

ALUNZE CASTLE BASEMENT
The Kingdom of Alunze is preparing for the king's coronation, but someone has stolen the royal crown. Retrieve the crown to win the king's favor.

LINE UP THE GEMS
Ready for a gem-dandy puzzle? If you place three gems of the same color in a line, they'll vanish. Unfortunately, there are not enough gems to go around, so you need to improvise. The captions below each picture show you how.

THE NORTHWEST CAVE
On your way to Tanbel you learn that the key to the teleportation shrine has been stolen by a monster. It's up to you to recover the key from the creature's lair.

PUSH AND BOMB
The Northwest Cave is carpeted with weeds, so it's tough to find the floor switches. Bomb the plants and push the block before the weeds grow back. You can take six steps before the bomb blows. Since normal turning counts as a step, conserve your moves by holding the R Button as you walk back behind the block.

PLACE THE POT
Some switches in the game are invisible. Walk around the cavern until a staircase materializes. Drop a pot on the unseen switch to keep the stairway in plain sight.

Just like the posts in the cave near Sundletan, these will continue to puzzle you until you return later with special equipment. Ignore them until you find the hookshot inside the West Gordovan Tower.
OUTEAST TANBEL TOWER

One of the Sinistrals has kidnapped Guy’s sister. Join up with Guy as he tracks the fiend through the diabolical mazes inside Southeast Tanbel Tower.

A PILLAR & FOUR POTS
Place the pillar over the dark tile, then place all four pots around the pillar. After the pots are in place, the lower left corner door will open.

THE RIGHT NOTE
Hit the cubes with different weapons. Hit the right cube with a sword, the middle one with an arrow and the left cube with a bomb.

RESET THE CLOCK
Don’t waste time on this puzzle. The gold block is the hour hand and the pillar is the minute hand. Reset the time to 9:00.

RUBY CAVE
The richest man in the village of Clamneto wants the Ruby Apple. If you can find it in the Ruby Cave, he’ll let you use his teleportation shrine.

SHOOT AT THE LEVER
If you can’t reach a lever with your hands, try hitting it with an arrow. Alter the terrain inside the Ruby Cave by shooting at the levers. If the lever handle is pointing toward you, the arrow will flip it in the opposite direction.

FREEZE THE LAVA
Make cool tracks across the lava with the blocks of ice. If you plan your route carefully, you can find the Fury Helmet and Aqua Whip. Follow the route shown.

TREASURE SWORD SHRINE
The Treasure Sword would look nice in the King of Pareclyte’s trophy room. Help Selan in find it.

ROOM ONE
Change all the colors of the blocks in the room to yellow by leaving the red blocks between the yellow blocks. You can move only one yellow block.

ROOM TWO
The second puzzle is more complicated. Move one yellow and one red block to change all blocks in the room to yellow. If you need help, the photos below show you where you need to place the blocks.

ROOM THREE
This is the final block puzzle in the shrine. Move two yellow blocks and one red block to change all the blocks to yellow. This photo sequence shows you how.
A Sinistral giant ransacked the Town of Gordova, kidnapping a mysterious woman. Eyewitnesses saw him near the West Tower. Go there to confront him.

The Ol’ Switch Trick
You’ve seen this puzzle before. Knock down the blue barriers by hitting the blue switch with an arrow. Rearrange the gold tiles and stand in the exact spot shown in the photo.

Two Vases, One Door
Place the jar on the left button to open the left door. Set the jar on the right button to open the right door. After placing the jar, walk across the dark tiles leading to each door.

Pillars, Chains and Switches
Use the hookshot to reach this switch. Push the right pillar onto the platform so you can use it as a hookshot target, then push the lower pillar over the switch.

North Dungeon
Indura is creating chaos in Bound Kingdom. He is planning an attack on Bound Castle, but you can stop the war by intercepting him at the North Dungeon.

Light Up the Tiles
The tiles in the room change color when you bomb them. If you light up all nine tiles, the left bridge will connect the two sections of floor. You cannot place bombs on the edge of the puzzle.

Raise the Floor
Add the Dragon Egg to your inventory by raising the bridge in the dungeon chamber. Push the four pillars in the room into a square over the dark flagstones at the top of the room. Once the pillars are in place, the bridge will connect the floors.

Find the Thunder Ax
Your party must explore several rooms before you can reach the Thunder Ax. Hit the switch with an arrow to lower the floor spikes, then retrace your steps across the spikes to a dead end with plants. Cut down the plants and push against the walls to find your prize.

Look for the eight weeds growing at the end of the corridor. Cut them down and press against the wall.
ANCIENT TOWER

Cades the Giant has renewed his threat to destroy all the humans on Seim Island. Settle the score by storming the Ancient Tower east of Bound Castle.

TRAP PUMPKIN HEAD

Open the door on the right side of the room by trapping the pumpkin head monster on a switch surrounded by four pillars. Pumpkin head moves in the direction opposite your party's. Remove one of the pillars and trap him on the switch.

ORTH Lighthouse

Indura's back, and he's kidnapped Maxim's son! This troublesome Sinistral is spoiling for a duel, so take him on in the North Lighthouse.

MEMORY MATCH GAME

Win this game of concentration so you can continue your quest. Step on the triangles to flip a tile and reveal the symbol beneath it. Memorize the tiles and match the pairs. When all pairs are matched, the spikes will drop so you can move on.

Phantom Tree Mountain

An evil Sinistral has attacked Aleyn, sinking the ships in port. Jyad can help you if you find him in the mountains.

DON'T DROP OUT

The floor in this dreary cavern crumbles beneath your weight. If you don't retrace your route, you won't fall through the floor.
You can go to either Narcysus port on Jstark or Gruberik port, where the Ancient Cave is. You'll need nothing short of a miracle to make it through 99 maze levels. Conserve your items and use them wisely. If you're trying to go the distance, dodge the monsters. Avoid fights with tough enemies that deplete your resources.

The Ancient Cave near Gruberik is the most unusual maze in the game. Before entering the cave, you must check all your armor, weapons, magic spells and character levels at the door. You're back to the adventuring basics. As you explore the 99 levels of the maze, you'll find chests filled with goods. Items found inside blue chests are yours to keep after you're done exploring.

Halfway There...

The lure of treasure and excitement in the Ancient Cave hooks many adventurers, but eventually you'll want to move on. Load up on supplies and hop the next ship departing for the eastern continent. The citizens of Narcysus have the clues and answers you're looking for. Check out the second half of this epic review next month.
The original Breath of Fire has been enjoying a resurgence in popularity, and our mailbags have been bursting with letters about it. As a result, we've decided to devote this month's Epic Strategy to answering some of the most frequently asked questions. Get set for a blast from the past!

SECOND WIND

Most video games experience their highest sales in the first month after they're released. Though popular games may continue to sell steadily for years, the number of games sold per month is generally comparatively small. Breath of Fire, however, has been able to buck this trend. Fueled by player word of mouth and discounts offered by some retailers, BOF has been enjoying a rare "second wind" in retail sales a year, and a half after its initial release. We knew something was up when, looking over the list of games we received questions on in the last month, we saw that BOF had jumped back into the top ten. So without further ado, here are the answers to the top BOF FAQs.

What Is the Fishing Pole for?

If you're hard up for cash and need some items, or if you just want to try your luck, fishing might be just the ticket. In most RPGs, you're randomly awarded cash or a useful item if you win a battle. In BOF, if you successfully land a fish, the game may award you a healing or power-up item. You won't get a reward every time, but if you're swimming around them, the easiest spot to find is just south of Drogen. Place the Hero at the front of the party, face the water and press the A Button. A fishing rod will appear in the Hero's hands for a few seconds, then you'll either reel in an item or you'll get the message, 'The fish got away.' As you progress through the game, you should also try fishing in some other, rather unlikely bodies of water, including wells. You never know what kinds of fabulous treasures you may pull out of them!

What Are the Dragon Emblems?

The Dragon Emblems, which are embedded in the ground or fastened onto cliff walls throughout the overworld, mark the locations of treasures as well as the entrance to Spyre Tower. The chart at the bottom of the page shows the location of each emblem and the item or benefit you'll receive from it. To open the emblem, place Mogu at the front of your party and press the A Button to make him dig. To open the wall emblems, you must have Kam's Puka spell. Place Kam at the front of the party and activate the spell. The powerful sound waves from his piercing shriek will shatter the emblem and reveal the treasure hidden inside.

numbers will appear next to the character(s) who can use the item you’re considering. The number on the left represents the strength of the item you have currently equipped, and the number on the right represents the strength of the new item. If you’re not in a shop, you’ll have to equip each item in turn and check your character’s stats on the subscreen.

Where Can I Raise My Experience?
If you travel north from Agua, you’ll find the small island where the Goddess was set free. This island is infested with Slimes and M Slimes. While the Slimes aren’t worth much, defeating an M Slime will garner you 9,999 experience points and 9,999 pieces of gold. M Slimes are shy creatures, so you may have a hard time finding them, and they may retreat quickly from battle, so be very patient.

How Do I Get into the Moving Town?
When you first visit the desert settlement of Arad, you’ll hear about a town that moves around the desert. This town is called Wisdon, and you won’t have to worry about it until much later in the game. After Ox has joined your party and you’ve defeated SlimeX in Nabal Castle, you’ll watch a cinema scene in which the General sails off to the underwater town of Prima. Travel to Prima and speak to the Guild owner to learn about the sorceress. Now go to the top floor of the guild and speak to the old man in bed. Stand on his bed and press A to receive the Statue. Now go back to Arad. With the Statue in your possession, you’ll be able to locate and enter Wisdon.

down the next two flights to enter the lava area. Walk down the ramp below you. Continue down the next ramp and the rope bridge beyond. Go to the right and climb up two ramps, then cross the rope bridge to the right. Go all the way up along the next rope bridge and climb down the stairs.

The E Key
The E Key can be used in battle to generate a small earthquake that will do up to 30 points of damage to all enemies. The key is located in the Nanai Dungeon at the center of Nanai town. From the dungeon entrance, go up through the door and take the stairs down. Continue down the next two flights to enter the lava area. Walk down the ramp below you. Continue down the next ramp and the rope bridge beyond. Go to the right and climb up two ramps, then cross the rope bridge to the right. Go all the way up along the next rope bridge and climb down the stairs.

The King Key
The King Key is the second of the Goddess Keys and is used to activate the Stone Robot that will destroy the dam near Tantar and Tantar. After purifying the soil in Romero with the Cleansing Water, talk to the mayor to receive the Tablet. Leave Romero and head northwest towards the floating tower of Agua. If you stand on the dock near the tower, the Tablet will automatically open the entrance to Agua. From the entrance, go up and climb up the stairs. Walk down to the floating platform and ride it down. Go right all the way, up all the way, then left and up the stairs. Go down and ride the floating platform down. Take the lower left platform to the left, then walk left to the wall. Go down and right to the next floating platform. Ride it to the top and go left to the stairs. Go up the stairs, then down and left to a floating platform. Ride it to the right, then take the lower right platform to the far side of the room. Walk down and left to another platform. Ride the platform up, then walk up to the top of the room. Go left and climb up the stairs. Go all the way right (you might want to look for a Steel Bow along the wall), then go down and left to a platform. Ride the platform to the left to where the ghostly Wisp awaits you. Defeat Wisp to receive the King Key. If Wisp gives you any trouble, use Sun items on him, then use Ask-Up on him. Unlike the other keys, the King Key will disappear from your inventory once you’ve used it.

The Goddess Keys
The Goddess Keys are special items that are necessary to completing several quests in the game. Some of the keys can be used as items in battle, while others have particular uses or affect certain situations. The following paragraphs discuss five of the six Goddess Keys in order of appearance, but since the Sky Key is a crucial part of another FAQ, we’ll deal with it in a later section.

The E Key is not very powerful, but it’s useful early on.

Continue down the next two flights. Walk down the two ramps below you, then go left and down across the rope bridge. Go right, up the ramp, right again and down the next bridge. Walk down and right all the way, then go up across the rope bridge at the end of the path. Go down the left ramp, up the next ramp and climb down the stairs. Follow the path up to the Knight. Use Sun items against the Knight to disable him before you attack. Defeat him to receive the E Key and the Quake Control.

The King Key
The King Key is the second of the Goddess Keys and is used to activate the Stone Robot that will destroy the dam near Tantar and Tantar. After purifying the soil in Romero with the Cleansing Water, talk to the mayor to receive the Tablet. Leave Romero and head northwest towards the floating tower of Agua. If you stand on the dock near the
The Dark Key

The Dark Key has a double purpose. Its primary use is to allow you to get the Mirror from the Old Man in the Dark Keep, but it also turns day into night when you use it. With Karn at the front of your party, walk up through the entrance to the Dark Keep and open up through a locked door. Climb up the stairs on the left, then go down all the way and right to find the Old Man. Talk to him to get him to move, then go up and left and climb the stairs. Continue up the next flight on the right. Follow the path down and right and climb up the stairs. Now go left and down to the wall, follow the path to the top right corner and climb up the stairs. Go to the bottom left corner and climb up the stairs. Take the next flight of stairs on the right. Walk up to the orange orb and press A to fight the Fiery Cloud. The Hero’s Thunder Dragon spell and Bo’s Fry spell will do the most damage. Karn can fight or use the E Key, and Nina can alternate between fighting and casting healing spells. Once you have the Dark Key, retrace your steps and talk to the Old Man to receive the Mirror.

The Light Key

It should come as no surprise that the Light Key has the opposite effect of the Dark Key. When you use it, it turns night into day. It’s located at the top of the Light Keep in the town of Auria, south of Tantar. There is only one path through the Light Keep, but remember that you must use the Mirror on Ross and rescue his daughter from the Safe before you can gain entrance casually back to Tock. Use the key in the control room at the top of the stairs.

DREAMS & DANGER

There are two instances in Breath of Fire where you must enter a world of dreams. You can’t escape from the dream worlds until your tasks are completed. In the first instance, you’re trying to save a young boy who will eventually become a valuable ally in your quest. In the second, you must obtain the Sky Key to thaw out a frozen waterfall (The Sky Key is actually the fifth Goddess Key you’ll encounter in the game.)

Save Mogu

After you receive the Bolster, return to Gramor and enter the dream of the sick child (Mogu). You’ll appear in the Dream Village. Take the northern route out of town and walk right, up and left to the North Tower. Talk to the boy on the first floor (who is really Mothro in disguise) and return to the village. Don’t worry about trying to fight Mothro yet. You’ll get your chance soon enough. Talk to the girl and the old man in the village, then leave town and go left and down across the bridge. Continue down and right to the cave. Work your way up through the Steam Fields. There’s only one path through the deadly geyser, but if you get into trouble, try to go up along the left side of the field. The path will eventually lead you to South Cave. Talk to Mothro’s Courage to have Mogu join the party. Go back to the North Tower and defeat Mothro to escape from Mothro’s dream. The best spells to use in this battle are the Hero’s Bolt Dragon magic and Bleu’s Gale and Ice spells, if you have them. The Hero should be at least to level 25 if you want to succeed. If one of your party falls, rotate another member into his or her place.

Defeat Mote

After you escape from Mothro’s dream, your very next adventure will plunge you into yet another dream world. From Gramor, travel through the cave to the south then go west to find the town of Spring. Talk to everyone in the town to learn about the frozen waterfall. Now head south and use Mogu to dig under the Dragon Emblem to enter the Spyre. Work your way to the top of the tower and talk to the Spirit to enter the World of Dreams. You’ll appear in a small village. Talk to the townspeople to get clues. Once you’re ready, leave the village and go all the way left. Go down, right and up the first ramp. Go up and right to the top and then all the way left. Enter the cave below you. Inside the cave entrance, walk up and climb down the stairs. Go up and climb down the next flight of stairs. Follow the path left, up and all the way to the right. Climb the stairs and...
Follow the path left and up. Talk to Mote's Conscience. He'll break a wall to reveal another set of stairs. There's a room at the top of the stairs with two blue healing pools and a large vase. Talk to the vase to save your game. Go up and exit the room. You will now enter the chamber known as the Rotator Room, and this is where many players get stuck. Follow the glass path to the first rotator tile. The tile will spin you around several times, then stop. Go left to the next rotator, then down to the corner. Climb down the staircase. You will enter a room filled with five staircases. Take the bottom right staircase to find Mote. Defeat him. To exit the World of Dreams, Mote will alternate between being blurry and being clearly visible. Use physical attacks when he’s blurry, and magic attacks when he's visible. He's especially susceptible to Bleu's Nova and Ice X spells. With Mote vanquished, the Spirit at the top of the Spyre will reward you with the Sky Key. Upon your return to Spring, you’ll find that the waterfall is thawed out and the path leading to Carmen is open.

ENDGAME

Many players have asked us for strategies on defeating Zog, Sara and the Goddess, the last major foes in the game. Many have also wondered if there is more than one ending to the game. In fact, the answers to these questions are tied together. Read on for the details!

Zog and Sara

The best attack strategy to use against Zog is very risky and will leave your Hero vulnerable if you want to take the chance, get the D-Hrt item. Use the Puka spell and attack with the Sonic Scream when Mote is blurry.

Make sure the Hero is at least level 27 before you battle Zog. At the Tower of Scande, take the first two elevators going up to reach the large door with the dragon symbol on it. Return to Tunlan, go up the first staircase and enter the door. Talk to the girl to receive the D-Hrt. Use this item as soon as your battle with Zog begins. This will hurt him seriously, but it will also reduce your Hero to a single hit point! After you heal the Hero, have Bleu cast the Bolt X spell and have Kam use the Puka transformation. The Hero can follow up with the Rudra spell. This same basic strategy will work with Sara as well. You won’t have the D-Hrt item to help you, and though Sara has 15,000 hit points compared to Zog’s 16,000 hit points, she has a greater resistance to injury.

The Goddess

The Agni spell is not only your best bet for victory against the Goddess, it is also the key to unlocking the better ending to the game. If you don’t have or don’t use Agni on the Goddess, she’ll remain in her “crying girl” guise, and you’ll see only the game’s credits as your reward. Use the Agni spell to transform her into a giant, snake-like creature, then use it again to transform your party into the ultimate dragon. In this form, you’ll be able to deal up to 999 points of damage per round! A word of caution: Make sure that Kam is in his natural form when you cast Agni. If he has used any of his transformation spells, Agni will not work! If you don’t have the Agni spell, go back to the Cave of Cleansing Water, the same place you obtained the water to purify the soul of Romero. Retrace your steps to the pool of Cleansing Water and dive in. You’ll find the Mystic Place and the Agni spell.

Not “The End!”

With the recent surge in the popularity of RPGs, many players are just now discovering Breath of Fire and its adventurous brethren. Perhaps other titles will achieve the same “sleeper hit” status Bof has. Let’s hope that other quality titles receive some well-deserved recognition from the growing ranks of epic strategists!
Riddle us this: Paul + Travis + Amy=??? If you haven't logged on to Nintendo Power Source, you might be baffled, but regulars will be quick with an answer: The Loud House. Paul, Travis and Amy are the three on-line hosts, or cyberjocks, who inhabit the Nintendo Power Source area known as the Loud House, where players sign on to swap quips and game tips.

Game enthusiasts can access Nintendo Power Source on America Online (keyword: Nintendo) around the clock, but the ceejays show up in the Loud House to host live, hour-long chats on weekday afternoons and evenings between 4:00 and 7:00 Pacific time, 7:00 and 10:00 Eastern time. Right on the hour, Sourcers pack the chat rooms to see what's up daily.

What's the attraction? Aside from having the cyberjocks themselves (each has a loyal following), the Loud House is an electronic lounge of sorts, a place for gamers to hang out, trade information and banter with others who are as absorbed by video games as they are. Sometimes the shows feature special guests, and sometimes they include games, such as “TheWhat” (What if Sabrewulf were neutered?), and “Acronymania.” (What could you make DKC stand for?) This month, meet the cyberjocks who keep the dialogue rolling in the Loud House.
Paul Hawkins, better known to his AOL followers as NOAPaulH, was the first of the Nintendo Power Source hosts to go on-line. Although he started out in the 4:00 time slot, he’s now on the air from 5:00 to 6:00 PT daily. Whether he’s discussing a particular subject, hosting a special guest, or playing one of the Loud House’s specialty games, one thing’s for certain: his chat sessions are always lively.

Nintendo Power Source regulars are tech fanatics who always want the latest, greatest information, and they also thrive on debating the merits of various games, particularly RPGs. Paul fills them in on what’s new daily, and his show often features guests in the know, such as Ken Lobb, manager of Product Development and Acquisition at NOA. He’s a great guest, according to Paul. “He’s really fast,” he says, “and he always gives lots of behind-the-scenes info.” Product Manager Dan Owsen is another NOA guest who’s adept at on-line banter and who’s likely to divulge interesting tidbits about the latest products.

Like the other cyberjocks, Paul has regulars who make special points of signing on during his hour. When talking about interesting on-liners, Paul singles out one in particular: DarkPanda, who types his messages backwards. “He’s cool,” says Paul. “And very clever.” (DarkPanda is active elsewehere in Nintendo Power Source, as well. See some of his entries in Blood of the Chozo, beginning on page 50.) Between keeping up with people coming and going and keeping up with the conversation and questions, the hour goes by fast—too fast, according to Paul. Is there anything he doesn’t like about the on-line experience? You bet: scrolling. “Scrolling,” he says, “is for lamerz.”

Paul, who is 23, claims the honors as the Most-Pierced Cyberjock. (Both ears and his tongue.) He got hooked on video games early: A dedicated Pong game was his first play experience. He’s a long-time skateboarder who also took up snowboarding after moving to Washington state from Florida. During the winter, he hits the slopes just about every weekend. And early in the morning, (very early, around 5 a.m.), he’s likely to be airborne, but not on a board of either kind. He is an avid paraglider, who takes to the sky every chance he gets, “It’s amazing stuff. If it can get me out of bed at 5 a.m. on the weekend, you know it has to be great. I feel a real sense of freedom when I’m flying.”

As active as he is, he describes himself as laid-back. “I don’t get worked up about stuff.” His own worst habit, he says, is scraping the stud in his pierced tongue on his teeth. “It drives people crazy!”

(0= — SCROLLING IS FOR LAMERZ.”
Travis Williams, who is also 23 (slightly older in dog years, he figures), cut his game-playing teeth on the Atari 2600. He spent hours, he says on Space Invaders, Pitfall and River Raid. Because he grew up in the Seattle area near NOA headquarters, signing on as a Game Counselor was a natural move for him. And, he says, hosting his hour in the Loud House, from 6:00-7:00 PT, is the best part of his job. "The interaction is fabulous!" Travis exclaims. "Chatting with people from all over is so interesting. Every experience is different because people are so different. Everybody has a story to tell." He likes people in his sessions who think fast and are on their toes. (He talks faster than a speeding arwing, so keeping up with Travis is a challenge!) To warm up for his show, Travis does the latte hit and bagel press, then he plays a quick game of thumb wars with Amy. He's reluctant to name favorite regulars because he doesn't want to leave anyone out, but when pressed he mentioned LHJester, aka Boomer356, ("He's funny!") RedFang99 and Darklord05. What does he find annoying on-line? "People asking the same question over and over," he says, "and stupid macros! They drive me nuts!"

If you tune in to Travis's hour, you're likely to find regularly scheduled episodes of The What (What if a Super NES were installed on the Starship Voyager?), Equality Online,
Amy Janas is the newest of the cyberjocks, signing on only a couple of months ago. She's not new around NOA, though. Amy's been at Nintendo for more than five years and on the phones as a Game Counselor for two. Her favorite games are RPGs and puzzles. The Legend of Zelda: A Link to the Past, Shadowgate, Secret of Mana and Shadowrun are her all-time favorites, while Chrono Trigger currently tops her list.

Amy, 24, has quickly built a large and loyal following in her time slot at 4:00-5:00 PT. She estimates that she gets between 20 and 60 e-mails daily and responds to as many as she can. She hosts lots of games during her hour on-line. (At this point, her favorite Equality Online is: Hillary + Pauline = A princess who doesn't like white-water rafting.) Some of the regulars who came up in our conversation include Rabiteman, Burrito528, MKFatal and Wisecow, aka Cowjason. "Rabiteman is cool," she says, "He makes lots of music files." As for Wisecow, or Cowjason, Amy explains, "We moo a lot in our chats!" (Who did put that cow in the Loud House basement???) About being on-line, Amy says, "It's so much fun! There's no better experience. But you have to be on your toes. I used to watch Travis and Paul and wonder how they could miss questions—now I see how! I hate missing a single one." She likes the sense of camaraderie in her chats. "The community we build is really fun. There's one guy who's there a lot who passes cups of coffee around." Amy, too mentions scrolling as an annoying habit. And she could definitely live without frequent age/sex checks. The time she spends on-line is too short—she doesn't want to waste it.

A self-described neat freak, Amy claims that you won't see her make many typos on-line. She's a college junior majoring in liberal arts, so she has little spare time, but in the free time she has, she plays volleyball, swims, and heads for the mountains to cross-country ski in the winter. She had her ears pierced on her 12th birthday, but you won't see her sporting tattoos any time soon. Or ever. "Not for me," she says.

Black Pearl Software invites you to tote the grand games anywhere you go with this 4-megabit extravaganza.

Practice hard, then compete in 10 of the most popular Olympic events. Excellent use of the Super Game Boy palette puts you right at the heart of the action!
You can pick any of three difficulty modes. In Hard mode, every rival is a threat to setting a new world record. Your smartest move, though, may be going down the Options menu to turn off the music, but keep the sound effects on. This allows you to hear the starting pistol and get into a rhythm by listening to the sound of your feet hitting the track.

PRACTICE

Because Olympic Summer Games emphasizes timing and reflexes over strategy, you'll never make it to the winners' podium without setting some serious practice time. You can take pride in your progress in most events. However, it's hard to see how good you're becoming in the Pole Vault and High Jump, because the practice bar is fixed at low heights.

SET YOUR SCHEDULE

When it's time for the big trip to Atlanta, the Customize Game option allows you to enter as few or as many events as you want. Fans will also appreciate the fact that Olympic Summer Games adheres to the actual Olympic rules. In the 100 meter dash, for example, you'll have to win two heats before you can enter the final race for the gold.

SET RECORDS

In the Olympics you pit yourself against the greats of the past as well as the champions of today. With your competitive juices flowing, the record options in Olympic Summer Games allow one more world record for the 10 events. As any Olympic athlete you, setting a new record is possible, but extremely difficult. Don't be discouraged, though. In Easy mode, you can tune in while skipping over the entire record.

THE WHOLE WORLD IS WATCHING

Black Pearl focused on track and field, cramming eight events from Atlanta's Olympic Stadium into this hand-held Pak. Skeet shooting and archery round out the offerings. Subtle differences in the game play of similar events, such as the long jump and triple jump, mirror their real-life differences. You might be a natural in some events, while having to practice endlessly in others!

100m DASH

World Record: Leroy Burrell 9.85s
Olympic Record: Carl Lewis 9.92s

Can you nab the hallowed title of "World's Fastest Human?" At the crack of the starting pistol, alternate pressing the A and B Buttons while pressing Right on the Control Pad. Press Up to lean across the finish line.

110m HURDLES

World Record: Colin Jackson 12.91s
Olympic Record: Roger Kingdom 12.98s

Accelerate by pressing the A and B Buttons. Leap over the hurdles by tapping Up on the Control Pad. Setting a good pace is all-important. You'll lose precious milliseconds if you have to jump while mid-stride.

POLE VAULT

World Record: Sergey Bubka 6.14m
Olympic Record: Sergey Bubka 5.90m

Build up speed by alternating pressing the A and B Buttons. When you see the pole pit, press Down, then Up. You have a maximum of three tries at each height but can save energy by taking a pass on a round.

TRIPLE JUMP

World Record: Jonathan Edwards 18.29m
Olympic Record: Michael Conley 17.63m

Sometimes called the hop, skip and jump, this event commands a fervent following overseas. Build up speed by alternating pressing the A and B Buttons, then press Up at the scratch line. Press Up two more times just before you land. One false jump and you'll fall flat on your face!

SKEET

World Record: Shan Zhang 200
Olympic Record: Shan Zhang 200

Press the B Button to pull the clay pigeon. Aim with your Control Pad, then press B again to fire. Hitting the clay pigeon when it is flying off to the side is extremely tough. You'll miss unless it's inside your crosshairs. Give yourself as much time as possible by aiming just above the tree tops while waiting for the clay pigeon to fly.
LONG JUMP

World Record: Mike Powell 8.95m
Olympic Record: Bob Beamon 8.90m

Can you break Bob Beamon's Olympic record, set an astounding 28 years ago in the rarified air of Mexico City? Accelerate by alternately pressing the A and B Buttons, then press Up just as you reach the scratch line. Pressing Up too early will drastically cut your jump distance.

HIGH JUMP

World Record: Javier Sotomayor 2.45m
Olympic Record: G. Avdeyenko 2.38m

Alternately press the A and B Buttons, then press Up on the Control Pad to launch yourself over the bar. Start slowly, then speed up as you approach the bar. Because of the perspective, it can be a bit tricky gauging the best time to take to the air. Jump a half-step past the right pole.

JAVELIN

World Record: Jan Zelezny 95.66m
Olympic Record: Jan Zelezny 89.66m

Race down the track by alternating pressing the A and B Buttons. As you approach the scratch line, press Right. Avoid disqualification by rolling your thumb Left as soon as you see the scratch line.

ARCHERY

World Record: JAY BARRS 338
Olympic Record: JAY BARRS 338

Aim with your Control Pad, then adjust your bow's tension by holding down the B Button while pressing Right on the Control Pad. Release the B Button to set the tension, then press it again to let your arrow fly. Keep a sharp eye on the clock and on the wind vane on top of the target.

DISCUS

World Record: Jurgen Schult 74.08m
Olympic Record: Jurgen Schult 68.82m

This event dates back to the ancient Olympic Games in Greece. Get into a rhythm by alternating the A and B Buttons as quickly as possible. Go into your launching spin by pressing Left on the Control Pad, then roll your thumb Up and Right to release. Increase your distance by lowering your trajectory.

You start the Rickety Race in tenth place, but you can quickly improve your standings by rolling backwards at the beginning. As you roll to the left, you'll bounce into a barrel that shoots your cart back to the right. Hold Right on the Control Pad as you pass the nine Klanks. As long as you make your jumps, you should have no problem catching up and rolling past the rest of the pack.

Hold Left on the Control Pad when you see the green light. You'll roll backwards into a hidden "plus" barrel at the end of the tracks.

The barrel boosts Diddy and Dixie back into the race. If you time your jumps, you should have no problem finishing Rickety Race in first place.

How do I defeat Kudgel?

Kudgel is the last enemy in Krem Quay, the third world in the game. To defeat him, you need to give him a headache with six TNT Barrels. Kudgel likes to throw his weight around. Jump in the air before he lands or you'll be stunned by the seismic impact of his landing. While Kudgel is on the ground, grab a TNT Barrel, jump in the air, and throw it at his head. After you hit him three times, he'll change his strategy and charge at you. Run beneath him and toss another barrel at his head. If your aim is true, Kudgel will fall after three barrel blasts on the noggin.
WHERE IS THE GOLD ROCK?

Frog can catch the Gold Rock in the Denadoro Mountains after the party defeats Dalton Plus. During the journey through the mountain range, a flock of Free Lancer birds toss rocks down on your party. If Frog is leading the group, he will catch the Gold Rock. The Gold Rock allows Marie, Frog and Robo to execute the Grand Dream Triple Technique during combat.

HOW DO I GET CHRONO BACK?

Chrono will be lost after the first battle with Lavos. To recover him, you must possess the Chrono Trigger and the Clone. You’ll find the Chrono Trigger at the End of Time after defeating Dalton Plus, and you’ll win a Clone if you complete the Simon Says game in the Tent of Horrors in Leene Square. When you have both items, go to the Keeper’s Dome in A.D. 2300 and talk to Belthasar. He’ll give you access to Death Peak, where Chrono rejoins your party.

HOW DO I DEFEAT THE GOLEM TWINS?

The Golem Twins reside in the Ocean Palace in 12,000 B.C. The gruesome Golems know how to mimic any magic thrown at them. If your party is wearing Blue Vests or Blue Mail, attack the twins with a water magic spell, such as Ice Sword 2 or Cube Toss. When the Golem Twins counterattack with water magic, the Blue armor transforms the spell damage into healing points for the wearer. If you have White armor, try the same strategy using lightning attacks. Each Golem has 10,000 hit points. Your party can break up the monstrous pair if your characters average at least level 35.
Wildcat is the chef at the Wildcat Restaurant west of Simafort. You need to defeat the feline to recover the Royal Ring. On your way into the restaurant, several maître d’s insist that you remove your weapons and armor. If you refuse, you’ll have to fight through each door. Fight it out. You need your equipment for the heated battle on the Wildcat’s grill.

How Do I Enter the Wisetree’s Mind?

You need the Therapy Pillow and Spar in your party before you can enter the mind of the Wisetree. The Queen of Tunlan gives you the pillow after you cure her. Speak to the queen, look for the Therapy Pillow downstairs in the castle treasury, then search for the Wisetree, a huge oak growing in the center of the forest south of Simafort. If Spar leads the way, your party can walk to the base of the Wisetree. Spar understands the Wisetree’s language. Use the Therapy Pillow to explore the mind of the Wisetree and cure the disease that is destroying his memory.

How Do I Enter the Coliseum?

To get inside the sold-out Coliseum in Coursar, you must complete several tasks. Return to Coursar’s pub at night and speak to the large creature named Rand. Rand works at the Coliseum and could get you inside if you were a famous gladiator. You learn that you can take the place of the warrior Baba if you best him in combat. Baba cuts wood in a forest north of Coursar called Tagwoods. Explore Tagwoods and challenge Baba to a fight. When you defeat him, he’ll give you his axe and let you fight in his place. Return to the pub in Coursar and talk to Rand again. If Rand sees Baba’s axe, he’ll introduce you to his boss. In the morning you’ll be able to enter the Coliseum and start your new career.
HOW DO I COMPLETE STAGE 3?

The last submarine sequence in "Down the Tube" often leaves players breathless. The trick to completing this level is finding a hidden fuel cache. After filling up at the first fuel supply, sail to the right as far as possible, then drop down until you see another passage leading back to the left. Follow it until you can sink deeper. As you drop, look for a crevice on the left side of the screen. If you wait, you'll see bubbles seep from the notch in the wall. Push left against the notch to enter a secret cavern. Load up on fuel, take a deep breath, and worm your way to the end of the stage.

HOW DO I DEFEAT MAJOR MUCUS?

Major Mucus is hanging around in Stage 4, "Snot a Problem." The object of the stage is to sever Major Mucus' bungee cord three times before he can snap your line. Avoid the walls on both sides of the screen. Your A button triggers a special move called the Bungee Shoe. Use the Bungee Shoe to slam Mucus into the walls. After the Major pounds into the cliff walls six times, his cord will break.

Mucus is the major problem hanging around Stage 4, "Snot a Problem." You must snap his bungee cord three times to complete the level.

After being shoved into the wall, Major Mucus has a twirling tantrum. Wait until he's done spinning before you shove him again.

Q & A FAST FACTS

A: Place four bombs together in shape of a square.

Q: How do I get a password?
A: You receive a password in Contest Mode after each level you complete.
Following on the heels of The Legend of Zelda: A Link to the Past comes the latest Players' Choice release, Super Mario All-Stars. This compilation of classics includes four brick-breaking, Koopa-stomping adventures sure to delight new players and long-time fans alike. Mario and company's continuing popularity proves that quality never goes out of style!

Mario Mania Revisited

Super Mario All-Stars combines the best of games past and present, featuring the original Super Mario Bros trilogy in an updated and upgraded package. While the layouts of the levels and the gameplay are unchanged, the graphics and sound have been upgraded to 16-bit, and you can now save up to four game files per title. As a bonus, this Pak also includes the original Japanese-market sequel to Super Mario Bros., now known here as Super Mario Bros: The Lost Levels. Released in 1985, Super Mario Bros became the benchmark for video game excellence.

SMB 2 continued the series' success with more characters and a new style of play. SMB 3 was the pinnacle of 8-bit programming and became the NES's crown jewel. Once available only in Japan, The Lost Levels came to America as an All-Star.
In SMB, grab on to the top of the flagpole at the end of each level. You'll be rewarded with the highest bonus available, which is 5,000 points. If the last digit on the timer is a 1, 3, or 6 when you finish a level, you'll also be rewarded with a fireworks display.

Super Tip 2

Extra lives are rare in SMB2, but for every coin you collect in Sub-space, you'll get one chance to play the matching game at the end of that stage. When the symbol you want appears at the top of the slot, press B. Three cherries equals three 1-Ups!

Super Tip 3

If you want to take a break during a SMB3 two-player game, place your character on a level that has already been completed and press A. You and your partner will compete in one round of the original Mario Bros. arcade game, then return to the map screen.

Super Tip 4

To reach World 9 in The Lost Levels, you must save Toad in Worlds 1 through 7 and rescue the Princess in World 8. You can't use any of the warps, and you must complete all of these tasks in one play session without resetting or using the "Save & Quit" option.

From Sea to Shining Sea

The Super Mario Bros. series is a bona fide best-seller from coast to coast and beyond! Combined sales of SMB, SMB2 and SMB3 (not including Super Mario All-Stars) have numbered over 38 million copies. To put it another way, if you placed all those Game Pak boxes end to end, you could form a line stretching from Nintendo headquarters in Redmond, Washington to Kingston, Jamaica, nearly 3,300 miles away, and still have about 200 miles worth of boxes left over!
When Super Mario Bros. was released in 1985, the U.S. home video game market was nearing total collapse. Despite dire predictions by some business analysts, SMB single-handedly jump-started the entire industry and catapulted a humble plumber to international fame. Its 8-bit graphics have been upgraded.

Where the Warp Zones Are

There are several opportunities to skip entire sections, but be careful as you proceed through the levels. Unlike the later games, SMB doesn't allow the screen to scroll backward through an area.

World 1-2

Jump onto a high ledge and break through the ceiling bricks or ride one of the elevator platforms to the top of the screen. Run to the right past the exit pipe to find the Warp Zone. You can skip ahead to World 2, 3 or 4.

World 4-2

Just to the right of the first elevator is a low section of ceiling. Jump around to reveal hidden blocks. Jump up and hit the low ceiling blocks to make a vine grow. Climb the vine and go to the right to find warps to Worlds 6, 7 and 8.

World 4-2

To reach the alternate Warp Zone in World 4-2, use one of the elevators to jump on top of the ceiling bricks. Run to the right past the exit pipe to find the Warp Zone. This one will take you straight to World 5-1.

Koopa Troopa 1-Up Trick

In World 3-1, defeat the first Koopa Troopa on the stairs near the flagpole. Stun the second Troopa on the bottom step. Jump on his left side, knocking him towards the step, and land on him as he rebounds. Keep knocking him back and forth without touching the ground. You'll soon be earning 1-Ups.

Bowser Boogie

This game marks Bowser the Koopa King's first appearance. As you make your way to his chamber, enter the last pipe in each room or you'll end up going in circles. Once you reach him, you can try to blast him with fireballs or try to grab the axe at the far side of the room. Don't jump on his head!
Instead of pipes, you'll use Magic Potions to warp between the worlds. The Potions create doorways to another dimension, but they must be used in particular places to find the warps.

World 1-1

From the start of the level, go right past ten waterfalls and pull up the first plant to get the Potion. Head to the right and create a door next to the jar. Go through the door, jump onto the jar and press Down to warp to World 4-1.

World 1-3

Enter the first door. Drop down the waterfall, land on the center island and enter the door. Grab the tenth plant for a Potion, go to the jar on the right and create a door. Enter the door, hop on the jar and press Down to warp to World 5-1.

World 4-2

Go up the first vine. Continue right and enter the door on the cloud. Go right then up to the top of the highest stone platform and pull up the plant. Go right to the jar, create a door and go through it. Enter the jar to warp to World 6-1.

World 5-3

From the start, go right and up the first ladder. Do a Super Jump to get up to the platform with the jar. Pull up the plant on the right for the Potion. Create a door next to the jar and enter it. Hop into the jar to warp to World 7-1.

Wart Waltz

Wart is the name of the wily toad that is trying to crush the world of Sub-con beneath his slimy feet. Catch the vegetables that fly out of the machine and throw them at Wart when his mouth is open. Try to get behind him, since he doesn't have the strength to heave his ponderous bulk around.

Each character has particular strengths, which might give him or her an advantage in a given level. We've listed our preferences below. Mario is a good all-around performer, the Princess and Luigi are high jumpers extraordinaire and Toad can run fast when carrying items.

| Stage | 1-1 | 1-2 | 1-3 | 2-1 | 2-2 | 2-3 | 3-1 | 3-2 | 3-3 | 4-1 | 4-2 | 4-3 | 5-1 | 5-2 | 5-3 | 6-1 | 6-2 | 6-3 | 7-1 | 7-2 |
|-------|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|
|       | ANY |     |     | 2-1 | 2-2 |     | 3-1 | 3-2 | 3-3 | ANY |     |     | 4-1 | ANY | 4-2 | 4-3 |     |     | 5-1 | 5-2 | ANY | 5-3 |
|       |     | 2-3 |     |     |     | 3-3 |     |     |     |     | 4-3 |     |     |     |     |     | 6-3 |     |     |     |     |     |
With a Warp Whistle, you can leap from World 1 to World 2, 3 or 4. From Worlds 2-6, you can leap to World 5, 6 or 7, and from World 7 you can jump to World 8.

World 1-3
Go to the white block past the second Boomerang Brother. Defeat the Koopa Troopa and crouch for five seconds. After you fall, run to the right (while avoiding enemies) to a secret door.

World 1
In the last area of the first castle, stun the Dry Bones. Build up power and fly straight up the wall above the block. Go right until you stop. Press up to enter a hidden door.

World 2
Go to the top right corner of the map screen, past the pyramid and main castle. Break the rock with a Hammer from your sub-screen. Defeat the Fire Brothers for the third Warp Whistle.

Return Bout
It's time for the return bout with Bowser, but you may get lost on the way to the fight! Take the higher paths through his castle. Once you get to his lair, let him do all the work. Just avoid his fireballs and attempts to stomp you. He'll eventually break through the floor and fall to his defeat!
Warding for Fun & Profit

There are eleven Warp Zones hidden throughout The Lost Levels, including some that take you backward instead of forward.

World 1-2

- Find the hidden block and vine past the second pipe. Climb up and go right to find a warp to World 3-1.
- Use the elevators to get above the ceiling. Run right past the exit pipe to find the warp to World 2-1.
- Go down the first pipe past the exit. Use hidden blocks to go over the wall. This warp goes to World 4-1.

World 3-1

- There's a springboard near the end of the level! Take a running jump at it and leap over the flagpole. Continue right until you find a pipe. This Warp Zone will transport you back to World 1-1.

World 5-1

- There are two platforms just before the end of the level. Hit the right brick on the upper platform to make a vine grow. Bounce off a Koopa Paratroopa if you need a boost. Go up and right to find the warp to World 6-1.

World 5-2

- To reach the warp to World 7-1, take another run across the ceiling past the exit pipe. To find the warp to World 8-1, jump up from the first elevator and hit the platform on the left. Climb up the vine and go right.

World 8-1

- Here's another warp that will transport you backward rather than forward. Go down the ninth pipe in the level and proceed through the underwater area. The warp at the end will take you back to World 5-1.

More Koopa Troopa Tricks

This 1-Up trick works the same as the one in SMB, and it works with any single Koopa next to a block or stair.

In World 1-2, collect the Mushroom then trap the Koopa Troopa on the last brick on the right.

Clear away the upper blocks to give you room to jump. Jump on the Koopa continuously and bounce it between you and the block.

Go for Gold

You'll encounter Bowser several times in World D-4, but you won't actually fight him. Keep moving and dodge his hammer attacks. When you see Bowser on a brick platform, run under and around him to collect a power-up.

Run under Bowser when he jumps. The Princess is waiting at the end of the level, so don't dillydally!
SUPER MARIA KART
Mario fans, start your engines! Super Mario Kart is in the Battle Zone this month, and we want your best times on the Mario Circuit 2 track. Play it safe and solo in Time Trial mode or make tracks against other opponents in the Grand Prix. Send us a shot of your fastest time on Mario Circuit 2. The twenty best players take home four Super Power Stamps.

MEGA MAN X3
Last month Josh Ridgeway wrote to Nintendo Power Player's Pulse requesting a Mega Man Challenge in Arena. You asked for it, Josh! We want to see if anyone can finish the Tunnel Rhino Stage using only the Mega Buster. Then, without starting any of the other seven stages, copy down your password and mail it in. The first twenty players to turn in correct passwords pick up four Super Power Stamps.

THE LEGEND OF ZELDA: A LINK TO THE PAST
This month we have a heartless challenge for Hyrulian adventurers. Can you reach Ganon with only 14 Hearts? You can't pick up any extra heart pieces. To enter the challenge, snap a photo showing your Heart total when you meet Ganon inside the Pyramid. The first twenty entries win four Super Power Stamps.

QUIZ ANSWERS FOR VOLUME 83
1) Kid Icarus 2) NHLPA Hockey '94 3) The Legend of Zelda: A Link to the Past 4) Princess Tomato in the Salad Kingdom 5) Ogre Battle
Once again, Ken Griffey Jr. scores big in the majors.
Baseball has returned for another year of great plays and excitement, but the best action may be outside the ballpark on your Super NES. Rare Ltd., the creators of Donkey Kong Country and Killer Instinct, collaborated with Nintendo of America and Ken Griffey Jr. to create the best video baseball game to date for the Super NES. With stunning ACM graphics, including realistic models of famous major league stadiums, and fluid player animation, Ken Griffey Jr.'s Winning Run captures the look of professional baseball. The Game Pak also captures the feel of America's favorite pastime with realistic play control and a full list of options. In addition to playing the 1996 schedule of your favorite team from the AL or NL, you can challenge a friend, skip straight to the World Series or take a break with the All-Star game or Home Run Derby. Gone are the arcade-like animations of the first Ken Griffey Jr. game. In their place, you'll find 3-D graphics and CD-quality sound effects. The new emphasis on statistics helps you pick a winning lineup as you manage your team in the pennant race. But best of all, Winning Run is fun to play, easy to learn, and yet it can be just as complex as the Bigs.

- Excellent graphics and sound
- Major League license: Great pitching and realistic fielding
- Stats: Ken Griffey Jr.
- No MLBPA license
- A couple of stadiums missing

LOBO

Company .............. Ocean
Release Date ........ May 1996
Memory Size ........ 24 Megabits

The galaxy has just become a little bit more dangerous, now that Lobo is looking for a fight.
Lobo steps off on his rocket bike and into one brawl after another in this fighting game from Ocean of America. Six characters from the pages of DC Comics sneer at our hero until he puts his leather-clad fist in their faces. The opponents in this tournament-style fighter include Kris Krusher Kringle, Vril Dox, D Nitro, Loo and Shaola. In the single-player option, you fight as Lobo against the other five opponents. If you want to try out the other characters’ moves, switch to the Practice mode. As in most fighting games, the real challenge comes from fighting an opponent. The options menu for the single-player game includes three levels of difficulty: Hard, Fraggin’ and Bastich. Fighting action includes special attacks using weapons and special finishing moves. The rendered graphics don’t look as sharp as 3-D as Killer Instinct’s, although a similar method was used in their creation. As for the comic book feel, Ocean included dialogue between bouts that presents a story, which is something of a departure for a fighting game. Lobo has decided to become a bounty hunter and Dox and the others become his quarry. You’ll also notice that dialogue bubbles appear during the fight to add some comic color.

- Good sense of the Lobo character
- Easy-to-learn moves
- Some very slow animations
- Too few characters
- Can’t pick character in single-player mode

The world faces the wrath of the Sinistrals in this sprawling RPG from Natsume. The Dual Blade is resonating and the Sinistrals see it as a sign to challenge the leadership of the earth in this prequel RPG from Natsume. The story takes place prior to the events of the original Lufia. Your hero, Maxim the monster hunter, sets off on a quest to stop them. He will be joined by a party of characters and beasts, some of them fighters and others who use magic. Lufia II crosses some of the boundaries between RPGs and adventures by using a number of features that you find in games such as Legend of Zelda: A Link to the Past. Maxim can push blocks, shoot arrows, hit switches and use other skills. During the course of the game, characters teach you about new features. You can rely on Help messages throughout the game, as well. The magic system varies from most RPGs in that spells can be focused on one enemy or cast on an entire group. Spells spread over several enemies don’t have the concentrated power of a single attack. In dungeons, the Skills feature lets you deal with foes in real-time rather than sending you to a battle screen. Using a ring menu similar to the one used in Secret of Mana, you can choose a skill and use it against baddies or solve puzzles. One skill allows you to reset all the elements in a room so that you can attempt to solve a puzzle over and over again without leaving the room. Lufia II is filled with thoughtful touches such as this that make the game interface very friendly. For RPG and adventure fans, Lufia II is huge news. Turn to the Epic Center for part one of our strategic coverage of this game.

- A sprawling epic with RPG and adventure features
- Player-friendly graphics
- Lots of play value
- Four slots of battery-backed memory
- Play control is a bit too quick.

MOHAWK & HEADPHONE JACK

Company .......... Black Pearl
Release Date ...... May 1996
Memory Size ...... 16 Megabits

Too funky for prime time, Mohawk and HJ come unplugged in this twisted action game from Black Pearl.

The only place you’ll see these semi-buzzed heroes is on the Super NES. Black Pearl picked up the title from a small developer that had been working on M&H independently. Mohawk features Mode 7 rotation and scaling effects that directly influence gameplay. When the main character, Mohawk, jumps at certain locations, the entire world flips around to reorient itself with new ups and downs. The most useful scaling feature shows players the entire scope of some really humongous stages. Mohawk and his alternating play buddy, Headphone Jack, must cruise through the cavern worlds collecting enough CDs in order to find the exit. Along the way, they must deal with baddies, shifting gravity, dead ends, warp zones, and special areas where they must use power-ups that turn them into fish or unicycles. It's a tall order, but you'll have fun filling it. We begin strategic coverage of Mohawk and Headphone Jack this month and will continue with part 2 in June.

- A unique feel: Fun, fast and funky Passwords Maps Mohawks
- Huge levels with warps and hidden areas
- Uneven graphic quality: A lot of space without a lot of enemies

You gotta love it when all the tradition and all the competition of the Olympics gets squashed into 4 megas.

Black Pearl gets the jump on this summer's Olympic-mania with this ten-event, Super Game Boy enhanced title. The events include 100 meter Dash, 110 meter Hurdles, High Jump, Long Jump, Triple Jump, Pole Vault, Javelin, Skeet Shooting, Archery, and Discus. The play control has been simplified so that common movements are the same in different events. Running, for example, requires players to rapidly alternate pressing the A and B Buttons. The game can be played in alternating mode in which one player participates in an event then passes control to the next player. In most events, such as the pole vault or long jump, this is perfectly natural. In races, however, competitors try to beat the best time. In addition to the ten events and different modes of play, the Pak includes Olympic records so players can compete against the record. It isn't easy setting Olympic records, though. You'll have to have the finger speed of champions. This month, Power lights the flame of Olympic competition.

- Nice graphics: Simple, consistent play control for all events.
- Records are virtually impossible to beat. No battery or password to save your best scores. Repetitious music.

OLYMPIC SUMMER GAMES (Game Boy)

Company ................Black Pearl
Release Date ........May 1996
Memory Size ........4 Megabits

Mario's classic adventures from the NES (and Japanese Famicom) step onto the Super NES stage for an encore performance.

Okay, so we're jumping the gun a bit on this title. The Player's Choice re-release of Super Mario All-Stars won't take place until September. On the other hand, you can probably still find the original Super Mario All-Stars. The packaging of the Player's choice version will look different, but the games are identical. What makes this game so valuable is that it isn't one game. You get four games for the price of one: Super Mario Bros., Super Mario Bros. 2, Super Mario Bros. 3 and The Lost Levels. All of these games first appeared for the NES back in the late 80s. The Lost Levels was released for the Famicom only in Japan. With updated, 16-bit graphics and sound, the games look and play better than ever on the Super NES. At the Player's Choice suggested retail price of $34.99, Super Mario All-Stars becomes one of the biggest values in videogaming.

- Four games in one for great value: Super NES graphics for classic NES games
- The Lost Levels is the only entirely new game for North American players

SUPER MARIO RPG: LEGEND OF THE SEVEN STARS

Company ................Nintendo
Release Date ........May 1996
Memory Size ........32 Megabits

Get ready for a Mario game that breaks all the rules and still ends up a winner.
Square Soft, the publisher of the Final Fantasy series of RPGs, developed this hybrid adventure for Nintendo with the help of Shigeru Miyamoto. The results are spectacular. Excellent 3-D graphics and a rich variety of game play will appeal to a much wider audience than most traditional RPGs. In fact, players will find that plenty of jumping and action skill will be required, just as in previous Mario games. The setting is the Mushroom Kingdom and neighboring lands that have been disrupted by the abrupt appearance of Smithy. This extraterrestrial villain has crashed down through the Star Road, which is the depository of all wishes. Now, seven pieces of the Star Road lay scattered over the world. Mario and his companions must collect them and defeat Smithy and his minions. Those companions include an orphan named Mallow, Princess Toadstool, an agent from the Star Road named Geno and one-time nemesis, Bowser. As Mario and his companions set out on their quest, they encounter friends and enemies both. Conflicts take place in animated battle screens. After you choose most battle options, the game carries out your command, which is pretty standard for most RPGs. But some Special Attacks require dexterity with the control pad to increase the power of your attack. In addition to that, you can double the strength of your normal attacks using the Timed Attack method. The frequent puzzles in Super Mario RPG present many challenges, some of them physical and some of them mental. But perhaps the best part of the game is that it will surprise players at almost every turn. Cameo appearances by famous video game characters such as Samus Aran and Link give this game a friendly feel. In short, it's charming, it's fun and it's truly a Mario game. Nintendo Power continues its three-part, strategic coverage of Super Mario RPG this month in the Epic Center.

- Beautiful graphics and sound A great variety of game play Battery backed-up memory
- The inclusion of the term RPG in the title may be misleading. It's not just a RPG—it's an action-packed adventure

We just received the latest, hottest shots of Nintendo's first N64 games and we couldn't wait until our E3 special in next month's issue to show you. It seems that Super Mario 64 and Pilotwings 64 continue to reach new heights with every version thanks to Shigeru Miyamoto's development teams in Japan and the United States. The latest scenes from Super Mario 64 feature new areas including a desert full of quicksand whirlpools, a magic carpet ride over a rainbow, a haunted house, a hall of mirrors, a careening slide down a mountain path and a winged flight toward the sun. Mario even shows off some new skills, such as the ability to swing hand-over-hand and perform spectacular backflips. Pilotwings 64 takes players into a world that everyone can recognize, because much of the game takes place over and around the most famous landmarks in America. Piloting a gyrocopter, jet pack or hang glider, players can soar over the Statue of Liberty or dive between the glass and steel walls of Manhattan or the rocky cliffs of the Grand Canyon. Pilots will take off on missions or take to the air to perform stunts. Miyamoto has been working with the flight sim aces at Paradigm Simulations on the creation of this aerial feast. For even more sizzling shots of these games, head to Nintendo Power Source on America Online or our web site at WWW.NINTENDO.COM.
When a mortally wounded boy is given half of a dragon's heart to heal him, the stage is set for an epic adventure on the Game Boy. But the youth, Einon, grows up to be an evil king and Sir Bowen vows to slay the dragon responsible for this. Acclaim ventures into the RPG genre with a classic little game along the lines of Obitus, combining first-person perspectives as you wander around the world with side-scrolling action in the combat sequences. As in most RPGs, you'll spend time searching out clues and performing tasks in order to earn the weapons and information that you need. With solid graphics and a simple interface system, Dragonheart should appeal to a wider audience than more complex epics. Acclaim hopes to release the game in May.

Acclaim recently sent Pak Watch a progress report and Beta tape on the development of Turok: Dinosaur Hunter for the Nintendo 64. As expected, the early game featured smooth animation and some cool, prehistoric creatures. The game design for Turok calls for a first-person perspective, in-the-head, which means that you see what Turok would see as opposed to seeing Turok running around. But in the tape, we saw plenty of Turok animation, and it looked great. So did the special misty effects used by Acclaim. In keeping with the swampy feeling of the setting for Turok, the developers have surrounded each area in a wall of fog. When characters emerge from the fog, you see them appearing out of the mist. In the case of huge dinosaurs like the T-Rex, that appearance can be pretty dramatic. Most of the characters appeared without much texture mapping at this early stage, but a report from two weeks after the tape was made suggests that tremendous progress has been made in this area. The one setting shown in the tape included a temple, palm trees, giant ferns, river banks, and a dozen different dinosaurs, insectoid monsters and aliens. The animation looked good on all of them. The movement of the raptors (shown here) was uncanny. Acclaim said that most of the characters were at about 40% completion. The plot of the game involves arch-villain Campaigner's plans to erase time with a secret device. Your job, of course, is to stop it so that time continues normally. All the shots shown here were taken from the video, but even so, you can see the quality.
It's been said that time flies when you're having fun, which suggests that the folks at Kemco have been partying since January of 1994 when they first sent us Sword of Hope II for Game Boy. Only now is the RPG about to be released, and none too soon since the number of adventure titles for Game Boy has never been astronomical. Sword of Hope II looks and plays very much like the original game and it involves the same hero, Theo, who hails from Riccar Castle. The look and feel of Sword II is a cross between Shadowgate and Dragon Warrior. The movement is like Shadowgate and the menus are similar to those in DW. Unlike most traditional RPGs, players rely on text descriptions to find clues and items in Sword II. The action commands include: Look, Open, Hit, Item, Magic, and Power. Mapping the mazes can take patience, but fans will find loads of adventure, DW-type battles, and many hours of sword and sorcery action. Kemco will release the game this summer.

Just the other day, your Pak Watch editors were sitting around bemoaning the fact that there hadn't been any new bass fishing games in the last few weeks when suddenly, our lines were collectively yanked by a heavy-weight catch from Black Pearl. Bass Masters Classic Pro Edition follows in the wake of last year's Bass Masters Classic, improving on almost every aspect of the original. Super NES anglers will recognize the interface at once, but the refinements to the graphics, sound and play should also stand out. More realistic fish and underwater scenes add to the excitement as you reel in prize-winning bass in multi-day tournaments. The lure-cam perspective is not realistic, of course, and bass fishing connoisseurs will shudder from the blatant pandering to the forces of fun. But let's face it, fun is better than reality, especially when reality is as uninspiring as a flopping fish. If you haven't jumped on the bass bandwagon yet, BMC: Pro Edition may be your best bet. Look for the game to appear in stores this June.
SUPER NES PATIENCE

You've probably noticed the number of new Super NES titles decreasing over the past few months, but that doesn't mean you won't see more hits on the Super NES later this year. Several factors have combined to create the current drought. Probably the biggest reason is that retailers aren't ordering the number of secondary titles that they once ordered. Only the biggest titles with the biggest marketing dollars, such as Donkey Kong Country 2, Super Mario RPG or Ken Griffey Jr.'s Winning Run tend to show up in the stores. The second reason for the shortage of new games is that the spring and summer have always been the slowest times of the year for video game sales. Players just don't buy a lot of games during this period, so retailers don't stock up with inventory that doesn't move. Finally, some developers have shifted some of their development resources to the Nintendo 64. In spite of the current trends, some very big titles are scheduled for release this fall. Already announced are Ultimate Mortal Kombat 3 from Williams, College Football '97 from EA Sports and Black Pearl, Maui Mallard from Disney Interactive and Kirby Super Star from Nintendo. Acclaim will announce its Super NES line-up this month at the E3 show in Los Angeles along with more major announcements from Nintendo. With 18 million Super NES control decks in North American homes, you can be sure that publishers will continue releasing their biggest hits on the Super NES for some time to come.

A MINI TETRIS ATTACK

Tetris Attack, the new action puzzle game from Nintendo, will appear this September for the Super NES and, we've just learned, for Game Boy, as well. The smaller version of T-Attack will have all the elements of the 16-bit game except for the split-screen, two-player option. Instead, of the split screen game, it will use the Game Link cable, so each player sees only his or her own screen. The wee Tetris Attack will be released by the holidays.

INCANTATION

This recently announced Super NES game from Titus features a friendly wizard and some very rich graphics with large characters. Once again, Titus has pulled from its hat a magical little game that is cute enough to appeal to young players, but interesting enough for everyone else. Incantation is a side-scrolling adventure in the European tradition, which means an emphasis on platform jumping action. Although it appears that it is complete at this time, Titus won't release Incantation until late this summer at the earliest.

THE WINNING RUN

Ken Griffey Jr. was beaten at his own game recently during an event called Ken Griffey Jr.'s Winning Run Van Tour. While spring training was underway, the Griffey van prowled through the Cactus League in Arizona and the Grapefruit League in Florida, stopping at ballparks and challenging Major League players and baseball fans to Nintendo's new Super NES baseball game. When it came to be junior's turn, he was doing great until he ran into Sara Blogett of Sun Valley Elementary School in Peoria, Arizona. Sara belted a 500 foot deep Home Run to send junior packing. Said a slightly stunned Griffey, "I can't believe she beat me." Maybe it's a good thing Griffey isn't pitching for the Ms.
This fall may be a good time to take a European vacation. Our reasoning is that an awesome skiing game for the Super NES called Winter Gold will hit the slopes then. We first caught wind of the game last year when it arrived at NOA for approval. Excellent polygonal graphics combine with check-chilling speed to give the game a sense of realism. The game includes downhill, free style, ski jump, snow boarding, bobsled and luge events. The Norwegian developer, Funcom, used the FX chip to power Winter Gold.

College Football '97

Another EA Sports hit will find a home on the Super NES this fall thanks to a deal between EA and Black Pearl. College Football '97 features top collegiate gridiron teams from across the nation. The football engine from EA is one of the best around. In addition to College Football '97, expect to see NHL '97 and PGA European Tour for the Super NES. Black Pearl also has scheduled Urban Strike for Super Game Boy to be released later this summer. A slower than expected development cycle on Urban Strike has delayed the release of that game.

Titus the Fox Returns... With Friends

This summer, Titus plans to stock stores with a number of Game Boy titles that it has released over the past four or five years. Leading the newly packaged lineup is Titus the Fox, a friendly platform game starring Titus's namesake character. Other Game Boy titles include Lamborghini American Challenge, Blues Bros Jukebox, Monster Max and Prehistorik Man. Titus and Lamborghini (a cool little racing game that includes an adventure element) should sell for only $19.99. In addition to the Game Boy titles, Titus will also bring back Lamborghini American Challenge for the Super NES for a special $29.99 suggested price.
